

YOU can't "eat your cake and have it," but you can often get votes to do so. Every legislator knows that, when he supports appropriations and opposes taxes to pay them. Evidently the incorporators of the new "League for Perpetuating American Independence" think they can get by with it, too. Besides the obvious policy of opposing the World Court and European entanglements, they are especially against either cancelling European debts, or doing anything to make it possible for the debtors to pay them. We want payment in full, but we will not take it in goods, services, or the money of other countries. We demand it in good American dollars, but the debtor must not sell anything in America to get those dollars. Hooray for us! •••

QUITE clearly nothing of the sort can be done. There are no American dollars in Europe with which to pay debts. No European debtor can get those dollars, in any quantity, except by selling either goods or foreign currency in America for them. If it is good, they "compete" with our industries. If it is money, nobody in America will buy pounds, francs or marks in any quantity unless he has use for that money to pay for goods from the country of its origin. Then these goods come in, to "compete." Directly or indirectly, payment is made in goods and services, or it is not made at all. And the total amount of payment is measured by the total amount of such goods and services. When we demand more payment and less goods, we are bluffing to fool voters, not dealing to do business. •••

EVIDENTLY the Panama-Pacific celebration of 1915 was the last of the great Expositions, as the Philadelphia Centennial of 1876 was, in America, the first. The Sesquicentennial, fifty years later, which has just closed its doors in Philadelphia, was a failure financially and in every other way. And only a part of the failure was due to the notorious local discords and mismanagements. Even with the best of administration, the thing could not have succeeded. •••

IN 1876, when the Centennial was held, it literally de-provincialized America. Thousands of intelligent and enterprising Americans made it their first considerable journey. Most of them found in it the first ambitiously beautiful buildings they had ever seen. Few of them had ever seen a good picture on statue or intelligently designed furniture and decorations. None of them had seen a power plant like the great, silent Corliss engine, and few of them had seen complicated machinery or industrial operations of any sort. They had not seen any kind of goods displayed in quantity, and of the finest quality. Nobody in the world had seen a telephone, the first of which was exhibited there. The whole thing was a tremendous display of the world's wonders before an eager, interested and unjaded public. They went home transformed people. Cities began to blossom with buildings designed with a sense of beauty; walls had pictures on them; the expanding local libraries found readers; styles were followed; sewing circles had a never-ending source of conversation; and the town banker and his wife defied all traditions by a summer's trip to Europe. In thousands of communities, 1876 marked the beginning of a new era. •••

WHERE is that public or that opportunity now? Nothing important could be displayed at Philadelphia in 1926 that was not already obtainable in the nearest department store. No buildings could be erected much more remarkable than many already familiar in the nearest market town. No strange country could be represented that some neighbor had not visited, and everybody else seen in the movies. No knowledge could be offered that was not already available at home, and no new thrill for an already jaded people. The event of a lifetime, of grandfather's visit to Philadelphia in 1876, is the commonplace daily life of everybody now. There is nothing more to see. •••

SAN FRANCISCO had the advantage that it, and the state of California, are wonders in themselves; that it was next door to the Orient, which only a dozen years ago was still strange to most people; that it showed for the first time noble lighting effects now familiar on the village court house, and that the world of 1876, while expiring, was not yet quite dead in 1915. Now it is dead, buried and forgotten. We are a sophisticated world, and we live by the motto of the Roman of the other most sophisticated age, "all admirari,"—nothing is worth staring at.

Fire Halts Rescue of Trapped Miners

DEATH TOLL IN DISASTER PLACED AT 28

No Hope Seen of Finding Alive Three Men Remaining in Coal Property

TWO DIE IN HOSPITAL

Indiana Colliery Officials Order Mine Sealed in Effort to Suppress Flames

(By United Press)

PRINCETON, Ind., Dec. 10.—Fire, raging in the depths of the Francisco coal mine No. 2, today forced abandonment of further attempts to locate three men still listed as missing in the check of casualties from yesterday's gas explosion.

After a conference, officials of the Francisco Coal company ordered the mine sealed to check the fire.

There had been no hope of recovering the three alive since last night.

Unless there are further deaths among the badly injured, the toll of dead will be 28, according to mine officials.

Rescue squads this morning found the bodies of S. J. Roll, of Evansville, and W. P. Rattliff, of Francisco, in a section of the mine that had not been explored before.

Ledford King, of Francisco, and Arvil Slater, of Oakland City, both terribly burned in the explosion, died in a hospital.

Two of the injured in the hospital here are not expected to live, hospital attendants said.

SHOW GIRL GETS $50,000 AS BALM

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 10.—A jury in federal court today awarded Miss Anne Caldwell, New York show girl, damages of $50,000 against John W. Hubbard, manufacturer of shovels.

The jury decided that the Pittsburgh millionaire promised to marry the girl and broke the engagement without justification.

Today's verdict brings to a climax the legal fight begun by Miss Caldwell, on Oct. 19, 1925, when her suit was filed in U. S. district court here. At that time she claimed breach of marriage contract.

Hubbard is president of the Hubbard Shovel company, of Pittsburgh, and is interested in many other concerns here, in Chicago, Cincinnati and other points. Miss Caldwell was last seen on Broadway in the Shubert production, "Gay Paree," last year.

Girl Is Held for Quiz on Murder

OAKLAND, Dec. 10.—Muna Oarder, 17, was held today, while police investigated a charge by her companion, Daisy Myrsi, that she had murdered a girl in Sherman Institute, near Riverside.

Both girls were arrested when patrolmen found them quarreling on a downtown street.

"She killed a girl near Los Angeles," Miss Myrsi said. "She hid at 744 South Sycamore street, Los Angeles, until she heard that another girl was arrested for the murder and sent to San Quentin."

Coolidge Names Rear Admirals

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—President Coolidge today sent the following nominations:

To be rear admiral, U. S. navy, Capt. Yates Stirling Jr.

To be medical director, with rank of rear admiral, Charles H. T. Lowndes.

To be naval constructor, with rank of rear admiral, George H. Rock.

GRAVE SITUATION DEVELOPS BETWEEN U. S. AND MEXICO, AS ARMS ARE SENT TO REBELS

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Official concern over Mexican-United States relations increased today on receipt of reports that Mexican ships, with arms for Nicaraguan revolutionaries, are heading for Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, where the American gunboat Tulsa is stationed.

With Mexico recognizing the rebels, who are trying to overthrow the Diaz government supported by the United States, the American government is being pressed by Diaz to establish a virtual munitions blockade against Mexican ships. Meantime, the Mexican situation cropped up in other than state department quarters.

Representative Gallivan, Democrat, Massachusetts, talked to the house yesterday of reserving American strength so as to "hit hard" one day—especially at Mexico.

In the upper house, opponents of the poison gas treaty began using the hint of possible hostilities with Mexico as a weapon to kill the treaty.

SMART LITTLE FELT HATS WORN WITH CHIC FROCKS IN TWEED

HERE IS SHOWN MISS FLORENCE JOHN, STAR IN "UP THE LINE," NEW YORK THEATRICAL SUCCESS, POSING IN TWO OF THE HATS DESIGNED ESPECIALLY FOR HER BY BENDEL.

COURT RECORD IS QUESTIONED BY ATTORNEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The tweed frock has scored the greatest individual triumph of the season. It is the outstanding success, all the more conspicuous because no one ever really believed tweed "had it" in it.

This sturdy and sterling fabric, associated in our minds with English country gentlemen and women who spent most of their time in the open, has too often connoted something scratchy and harsh, that looked hot and heavy in town.

However, like practically all stand-pat materials, it has lately yielded to French persuasion. If it has lost its old independence it has at least gained gentleness and softness. It is now ready for the delicate colors, fascinating stripes, checks and novelty weaves that fashion rewards its sacrifice with.

Plain and checked tweeds are combined into snappy frocks and ensembles, with jaunty capes and coats, that are quite as much at home in town as kasha and jersey are.

Requires Accessories This season's tweed is handled in a very feminine way—as you can see by the model photographed. It has the scarf, low waistline, and up-to-the-minuteness that the silk or satin frock has. And nothing brings out its effectiveness more than such accessories as large colored silk handkerchiefs, printed silk scarfs, neckerchiefs, tailored bouquets of leather or wool, smart felt hats and the tie oxfords of this year.

I believe tweed and such soft wools will be even more popular for spring than they will be for winter and we will see such a season of wool supremacy as we never before encountered.

Perhaps this is the reason why the felt hat persists so tenaciously and is the prevailing material for autumn hats, because it is the only possible choice with such frocks.

Photographed today are two models created for Florence Johns to wear "Up the Line" that illustrate the tendency to bring variety into the felt hat, and to adjust it to the more ornate period into which we are now passing.

Quite usian and not too severe in line is the black felt visor turban trimmed with triangles of broadtail fur applied on the high rim. Here is a model that is extremely appropriate with the fur wrap, or the velvet or satin afternoon frock. That upward peak in the front is an excellent antidote for the face that is a bit too broad.

Mushroom Types Less formal and more generally becoming is the mushroom shape of beige velour trimmed with tufts of hackle feathers, of a darker tone.

For the same actress I designed a very ingenuous model of black felt trimmed with strips of beige and rose felt, drawn through slashes in the brim and tied in a knot bow at the top of a pinched crown.

Except for sport and morning, nearly every hat makes some attempt at some trimming besides the usual ribbon band. Odd flowers, bows, bits of embroidery, and feather fancies, discreetly applied, and the coquetry to millinery which was lacking when we became so very severe.

While the colored hat is still at the pinnacle of popularity, Paris is becoming more and more concerned with the black model. And as the black coat and the black frock begin to crowd out the gayer tones, the black hat will necessarily dominate the mode.

COURT RULING FAVORS OWNER OF BEACH CAFE

The Seal Beach city council acted without due process of law in revoking the license of George Parry's cafe, according to a ruling just given by Superior Judge E. J. Marks on Parry's application for a writ of review.

Parry carried his difficulties to court when the council revoked his license without giving him a hearing or informing him of the grounds, he contended. Three members of the council voted to revoke the license, after City Marshal Foster had filed a report showing the number of arrests made in Parry's cafe.

Parry, represented by Charles D. Swanner, former city attorney of Seal Beach, was granted a hearing by Judge Marks, whose ruling in the case, favoring Parry, was as follows:

"The right or license to conduct a lawful business within a city is a property right and under the guarantee of our federal and our state constitutions, can only be taken by and after due process of law. Due process of law requires that the respondent be not only given a hearing, but that he be notified of the time and place of hearing and of the charges against him. The notice given in this case by the defendants to the plaintiff hardly comes within the requirements of the constitution, as interpreted by various federal and state decisions."

Whether the dispute between Parry and the city council now is ended, or a new start is taken by the council to employ "due process of law," has not been finalized.

SANTA ANA AND L. A. POLICE TO MEET ON RANGE

Santa Ana police pistol team today arranged a shoot with the Los Angeles police pistol team, claimants of the California police championship, the shoot to be held in Elysian park, Los Angeles, Jan. 8, 1927.

The shoot will be conducted over a 25-yard range at standard targets, with 10 shots slow fire, 10 shots fast fire and 10 shots rapid fire.

The Los Angeles team recently defeated the Redondo Beach police team by 50 points, the same margin by which Santa Ana defeated the beach team.

"We don't say we will beat Los Angeles, but we'll let them know that Santa Ana is on the map when it comes to drawing a bead on a target," Chief Rogers said today.

City Shivers In Wintery Blast

SUDDEN WIND SIGNALS CHANGE OF SEASON

Looking 'Em Over On Cold Day

By The Rambler

See-sawing up and down Fourth street. On the breath of chilly blasts that cut through clothing to the very marrow comes the first monition of winter.....Biting breezes blow down Fourth street like one of the old-time Santa Ana winds.....Zephyrs, they are, descending from Old Saddleback laden with snow.....There is the monotonous chant of the high gus, a song that resembles the rolling in and receding of ocean tides....It is the signal for the heavy underwear, woolen socks, sweaters, furs and gloves.....It gets chilly even in sunny Southern California. A business man, overcoat buttoned to the neck, head down and hands thrust deeply in pockets, struggles to make some headway against the frigid wind.....Corner newsies, hawking their wares in guttural beyond their years, turn their backs to gusts that send less-hardened pedestrians scurrying along with the wind or staggering against its unseen impact.....Doors of business houses invitingly open almost every day in the year, are closed, a makeshift sign notifying the public to "walk in".....A couple of "theatricals" bustle from a nearby showhouse to the protecting steam-heat of their hotel room.....Motorists twist handles and pull at rods in an effort to warm the choking engines of their contrary vehicles.....A shell in whiskey-colored corduroys twice too large for him, an outlandish, skinny-rimmed black thing for a hat and a sweater that includes all shades of the rainbow, swings along, his trousers flapping in the breeze like sails. He tries to act blasé but his face is flushed and his hands are red and he looks cold even if a man of the wide open spaces must not show it.....A clothing store salesman, complexion redder than usual, ducks into a friendly doorway and utilizes a window as a windshield while he puffs desperately at the cigarette he must smoke quickly. The first match flares and snaps out. The salesman has better fortune with the second and thrusts the ignited cigarette into the corner of his mouth and proceeds, hands buried in topcoat pockets, on his quest for the pair of trousers that somebody had to have lengthened.....A Civil war veteran in a black overcoat that extends almost to his shoetops and using a rolled umbrella as a cane totters along a little uncertainly in the blustery going. A mite of a dog named Duke is with him and Duke contemplates with serious mien his less gingersome companion as he bounds along always a store entrance ahead.....In the lobby of a downtown hotel, a trio of sleek traveling men, taking in the vacant divan situation with practiced eye, assemble in proximity to some steam heat pipes for an informal little verbal session. It is on such a day as this that the nation's smart cracks are manufactured.....A husky truck driver, only a red nose and a pair of red eyes discernible between a pulled-down cap and an up-turned Mackinaw, salutes with gloved hand a traffic officer who looks anything but comfortable as he beckons cars this way, then that.....A couple of tittering high school girls, talking about dates and automobiles and movie heroes, brave the freak storm. They carry a load of books that will remain untouched on the parlor table tonight.....A young junior high school instructor hustled out of the public library with a copy of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" and clambered into the little coupe which she purchased with her first month's salary despite many pre-employed manifestations that she would begin repaying Daddy for all the dough he spent on her education.....Soda fountain clerks, shivering in their white livery, mix cold drinks for the customers who must have their delectables, irrespective of the weather.....A dentist and his office girl look down on the frigid Fourth street scene from the warmth of their office and hope it will be less chilly when 5 o'clock comes.....But the wind keeps howling and the thermometer keeps dropping and the thermometer keeps dropping and the public keeps shuddering.....Because winter has come.

FULLERTON MAN EXPRESSES OPPOSITION TO PORT BONDS

To the Taxpayers and Voters of Orange County: Just a few words in opposition to the Newport Harbor bond issue.

First, if you vote for the bonds, you are voting for something that you do not need, or to say the least, something that you can do without.

Those advocating the bonds tell you that it will only cost you 41-2 per cent or less increase in taxes to vote a bond of $650,000, but they do not tell you how much additional tax you will be called on to pay in the future to make good and substantial the "insignificant" $650,000 that you are asked to vote for on the 14th inst. Now my dear friends, the advocates of this measure know that $650,000 will only make a start toward the completion of the harbor. They, the advocates, will admit that it will cost $2,000,000 or more to finish the project and make it safe for even a pleasure harbor and that is all they ever expect to have, merely a pleasure harbor. Are we interested in such a project as that?

Now, friend voter, do you feel that you are justified in voting a tax burden on your children and grandchildren that they will have to carry for the next 50 years to come? Understand, I am not alluding to the $650,000 as the whole, but am referring to the millions of dollars of bonds that you have already voted for roads, schools, and other necessary institutions. While it is a fact that it will only cost 4 cents or less on $100 valuation, if the proposed bonds carry and are sold, this lot of bonds is only a starter. It is so concealed by every advocate of the bonds.

My good people, if the $650,000 is carried, you will then have together with the amount already expended $1,285,802.14. Now stop and listen! The above amount will call for more when needed! Your harbor commission will then call upon your county board of supervisors for more money. Your board will then make an appropriation to save the large amount that has already been expended. This is a natural consequence and must be expected. So it will continue for time to come.

By the way, I see that Professor Donaldson, of Fullerton, quotes General Beach as saying there is no sand or quicksand at the entrance of the channel. This must be a mistake. If there were no sand, there would be no need of dredging. He also quotes the general as saying that there is no rock at the entrance of the channel. There is rock in the channel opposite the shore end of the jetty, extending along the east shore of the channel for a distance of several hundred feet. In one place this rock extends far enough into the channel to obstruct a straight passage of any vessel that draws a depth of sixteen feet of water. This said rock will have to be blasted out before any vessel of the above-mentioned draft can enter with perfect safety.

There is one more item that I wish to call to your attention. There is a piece of land, possibly 40 acres or more, lying at the extreme east end of the peninsula, extending west from the bay entrance, and along the ocean shore line, possibly for a distance of 2000 feet. This land, I have been told, belongs to a millionaire by the name of

Rome Will Get Supposed Bones Of 12 Apostles

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Parts of the bones of the 12 apostles, said by the Chicago Historical society to be contained in an ornate leather or reliquary, have been withdrawn from an ale by the society and turned over to officials of the Catholic church.

Part of the famous collection of Charles F. Gunther, candy manufacturer, the bones will be returned to Rome by representatives of Cardinal Mundelein.

Among the possessions in the collection, bought six years ago from Gunther's heirs and sold to day, were the gown of Queen Caroline and a carriage parasol of Empress Eugenie. The sale lists everything from shovels to octagonal Roman dice to Napoleon's fancy silk vest.

MRS. MUSTOL'S ART WORKS ON DISPLAY

Marion Mustol, 1246 South Van Ness street, has arranged an art exhibit in the Grand Central market, in which she is featuring a number of oil paintings, done by herself. In the exhibit are paintings of all sizes, several of which are copies of famous works.

The paintings show Mrs. Mustol's versatility, as some are representations of animal life, while others are of the sea, mountains and other outdoor subjects.

Of the smaller pictures, the most notable are the paintings of the Monterey cypress, which long has been a subject of artists. Of the larger, the most outstanding is the "Lone Wolf," done entirely in whites, blue and browns.

Another feature of Mrs. Mustol's work is her painting of photographs.

Dinner Guests Enjoy Progressive Games And Cheery Chat

One of the week's pretty affairs exemplifying Christmas in a general motif, was the smart little dinner given last night by Miss Gladys Thomas at her home, 914 South Main street.

Miss Thomas was assisted by her mother, Mrs. F. M. Thomas, in greeting the guests and in all the details of entertaining. The table where dinner was served was very lovely with flaming red decorations on the snowy linen. Scarlet poinsettias graced the center while four tall red candles in green holders shed their soft light on the scene. Favors and poinsettia nut-cups completed the artistic arrangement.

Following dinner, the guests gathered around card tables for a lively progressive game in which Mrs. J. H. Daniger took first honors and Miss Elsie Stewart was consoled. Dainty little gifts were presented each of them.

One of the interesting features of the evening was the tale of her travels recounted by Mrs. Loren Mead of China, who with Mr. Mead returned last Monday from a two months' trip to New York, Washington, Philadelphia and other eastern cities. Mrs. Mead also brought a number of Chinese curios which the others enjoyed seeing. She and her husband will remain here until February when they will sail on their return to China.

Enjoying the hospitality of the hostess, Miss Thomas, and her mother, were Mesdames Ralph Best, Ernest Kelsey, J. H. Daniger, Leslie Knight, Thomas Tournat, Leslie Mitchell, Blanche Brown, Clyde Otto of Corona, J. A. Wilson, Loren Mead and Eugene Thomas, Miss Helen Decker and Miss Elsie Stewart of San Francisco who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Eugene Thomas.

Neighborhood Circle Has Christmas Party

The Neighborhood circle, that friendly organization of those who dwell on Newport road near Tustin, held its annual Christmas party last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Archer.

The celebration began with a pot-luck dinner to which each family contributed delicious dishes with extreme liberality. After dinner was an exchange of inexpensive little gifts which everyone thoroughly enjoyed, especially the many children.

The remainder of the evening was given over to games and the enjoyment of a colored slide and a motion picture of "Little Black Sambo," thrown on a screen by a junior member of the group.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sanborn and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alexander and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Warner and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pannell and family, Mrs. Harriet Flattery, Miss Mary Flattery and Mr. and Mrs. Archer and family.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Santa Ana Country club members are anticipating the informal dancing party to be held tonight at the clubhouse. Dancing will be from 9 to 12, and punch will be served all evening.

Bell's Fifth Household Economics section will have its Christmas luncheon and gift exchange on Tuesday, December 14, at 1 o'clock with Mrs. Carl Klatt and Mrs. Jesse Goodman at the Klatt home on East Seventeenth street.

Bell's Music section will hold no December meeting but will resume activities on the third Monday in January.

State Employees Propose Pension

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 10.—Organization of the California state employees' association was announced by John T. Stafford, president. Stafford is clerk of the third district court of appeal.

The association, he said, proposes to include in its membership all state employees except elective officials and gubernatorial appointees, and to work for the establishment of a pension system for state employees.

In furtherance of the pension project, the organization hopes to put through the legislature a bill creating a commission to investigate pension systems already in effect in other states, and empowered to recommend to the 1929 legislature a suitable pension bill.

Young Matrons Gather For Pleasure Eve Club Meeting

Pleasure Eve club members were delightedly entertained Tuesday night by Mrs. Aline Ludlow who proved the correctness of the club's name in the plans she had made for her guests' pleasure.

Bridge was the amusement and when scores were tallied, a cluster of flowers with three pretty handkerchiefs rewarded Mrs. Lillian Snyder. Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held with Mrs. Ruth Mitchell, 1015 West Esplanade on the night of December 21. Names were drawn and each member will provide a gift for the one whose name fell to her lot.

Late in the evening, Mrs. Ludlow spread the card tables with linen cloths and adorned each with poinsettias in harmony with the seasonal decorations of her home, in readiness to serve appetizing refreshments.

Members of the club present in addition to the hostess, Mrs. Dunlap, were Mesdames Gertrude Waldron, Tressa Akin, Ruth Mitchell, Lillian Snyder, Mabel Thatcher, Harriett Mitchell, Hazel Turton and Helen Stowe while guests were Marie Sanford, Esther Balam and Alice Hunter. Pleasure Eve members unable to be present were Mesdames Aline Hunter, Mary Hopkins and Isabel Getty whose infant son has been named Wilbur Grant Getty.

Those enjoying the pleasant evening were Mesdames Gladys Nelson, Florence Rogers, Marian Noble, Marguerite Mize, Gene Wallace, Henrietta Smith, Alberta Wallace and the hostess, Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Smith will be the next hostess to the club-members, and will entertain at her home in Orange.

With the president, Mrs. Clyde Ashen, conducting the business meeting. The spacious living room was bright with poinsettias and roses and a cheery fire burned in the fireplace. The members will meet at the church next Wednesday at 1 p.m., to put it in readiness for Christmas.

The section members made reports, nearly all of the five having completed their quotas. Two chapters of the gospel of St. John took up the study period. After a social time, during which the hostesses, Mrs. Caster and Mrs. Julius Meyer, served sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee, the members went in a body to the rectory and presented a substantial check to the pastor, the Rev. Father H. Eunsmen, who was celebrating his sixty-fourth birthday anniversary.

Father Eunsmen was greatly touched and responded with some of his experiences during the many years of his priesthood and some incidents of his private audience with Pope Pius XI during his recent visit to Rome. The promoters of the League of the Sacred Heart gave the priest three sectional bookcases as their birthday gift and a beautiful spirituous bouquet.

Mrs. Lewis Gall, in presenting the devotional exercises, made a pleasing variation by using the form of responses prepared by the board, followed by an intimate talk on Christmas giving, suggesting for this year, among many other inspiring thoughts, the bringing of some "new" gift of personal service to present the King of Kings.

In the mystic syllables of a foreign tongue, the Reverend and Mrs. R. H. Silverthorn charmingly sang "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us," in the language of the Malay peninsula. The Rev. and Mrs. Silverthorn told interestingly of his pastorate in Malaya; of his journeying through the inland districts and cities; of the various religions and creeds in this "restless land of the white elephant." He spoke of the bright minds of the Chinese students and cited instances of their intellectual progress.

Mrs. Anna Mitchell spoke briefly of work and conditions in Utah, particularly of two schools of higher education. Mrs. E. B. Smith in her talk on Persia, told the pathetic story of the life of Dr. W. A. Shedd, who was vice consul during the war, of his heroic defense of Urumia mission and tragic death on the eve of victory.

Mrs. M. B. Youel ably discussed the problems of Syrian missions. She said "Syria is ready for evangelism; advance is demanded and the need of money to promote the cause is very great. In some districts moving pictures are enlightening the masses along educational lines."

Fidelas Luncheon

The Fidelas class of the First Evangelical church was recently entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon in the home of Mrs. R. Rohrs, on South Glassell street, Orange. Small tables seating four each, were used for serving and each bore a glowing Christmas candle.

In the afternoon were varied interests, including the election of officers, as follows: Mrs. Brubaker, president; Mrs. Metzian, vice president; Mrs. Andres, secretary; Mrs. Rohrs, treasurer.

Those present to enjoy the hospitality of the Rohrs home and share in the afternoon's interest and pleasure were Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Vogt, Mesdames W. Rohrs, C. Andres, Belzian, F. Rohrs, H. Rohrs, Brubaker, J. Witt, H. Witt, A. Graham, Stamm, E. Roberts, G. Lutz, P. Lutz, Woerz, F. Oberlin, C. Huston and W. Hoefer.

Pretty Party Given In Compliment to Young Matron

Mrs. Vernon J. Williams was hostess to a coterie of friends at her home, 612 French street Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Harry Siemonsma, formerly Miss Laura Banks. The home was prettily decorated with Christmas flowers, and bridge was the diversion for the evening.

The party was made a very Christmas-like affair for the hostess used many poinsettias and other appropriate decorations amidst which the tables were arranged for bridge. When scores were tallied late in the evening, attractive prizes were presented.

Mrs. Siemonsma was presented with a number of gifts to add to her layette, and late in the evening, the guests were served with a dainty repast. The tables were centered with roses in which reposed baby dolls, the candy cups were minatures of the larger roses and also held wee celluloid dolls. Jello with whipped cream and individual gel-food cakes, iced in white with pink roses were served with hot coffee.

Those present, besides the hostess and honoree, were Mrs. Marie Lieberman, Mrs. J. Ogden Markel, the Misses Anne and Agnes Lieberman, Mrs. J. P. Murphy, Mrs. Clyde Ashen, Mrs. L. M. Banks, Miss Mary Banks and the Misses Genevieve, Helen, Clara and Armella Klatt.

SUPER TORPEDO OF U. S. BARRED BY WAR ENDING

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Use by the United States of an aerial torpedo designed to hit targets 100 miles away was prevented only by the "unfortunate" intervention of the armistice, William L. Saunders, chairman of the naval consulting board of the United States, has revealed.

Saunders talked about the torpedo before a large gathering of engineers assembled to witness bestowal upon Elmer Ambrose Sperry of the John Fritz gold medal. Sperry is the inventor of the torpedo. The award was made in connection with the forty-seventh annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The naval board chairman said he could not reveal details of the mechanism, but was able to tell a few facts about it.

"Unfortunately," he said, "this perfectly fine experiment was stopped by the armistice. If that had not come we would have had 10,000 flying guns which could have been sent into enemy forces in no time."

"If we are ever to have another world war, that nation will win which will be rich enough to build 10,000 of these aerial guns, for these would demolish any fortification and would destroy any army of any enemy."

NEW OFFICIAL

Charles Swanner, elected city attorney, to succeed Z. B. West Jr., at the meeting, yesterday, of the city council.

C. D. SWANNER NEW SANTA ANA CITY ATTORNEY

Charles D. Swanner was appointed city attorney at a special meeting of the city council, at 4 p. m., yesterday, to complete the unexpired term of Z. B. West Jr. The selection was made by secret ballot and Swanner received the vote of each of the five members.

West was elected district attorney at the general election and filed his resignation with the council Monday night to take effect January 1.

According to a statement by Mayor Frank Purinton to the council, when it convened in the council chambers, the special session was called for the purpose of filling the vacancy so that the appointee might have a few weeks in which to familiarize himself with the details of the office before assuming the position.

It was pointed out that many important legal matters are pending and that it probably would take the new officer some time to acquaint himself with them. In presenting his resignation Monday, West assured the council that he would assist his successor in every way he could, even after he had taken up the duties of district attorney.

No formal application for appointment was filed with the council, but it appears that G. K. Scovel, Otto Jacobs, Franklin West and Clyde Downing had been considered, but an application was filed by none of them.

Swanner is a nephew of R. Y. Williams, former judge of the superior court, and W. B. Williams, cashier of the First National bank.

He is one of the group of young attorneys of the city and has had experience in city legal work, having served Seal Beach as city attorney. Swanner is a World War veteran. He was with Company L, when the company was called into service and went into training at Camp Kearney. He was a replacement officer overseas and retired from service with the rank of Lieutenant. Swanner is a graduate of U.S.C. He is a leading member of the Junior chamber of commerce.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

AGAINST HARBOR BONDS

Santa Ana, Dec. 7, 1926.
Editor Register: The writer believes that your readers will not only be interested in, but would be financially benefited, if you will publish this communication, which contains facts and figures pertaining to the proposed $650,000 Harbor Bonds; also the proposed expenditure of the proceeds received from the sale of same.

First, we will state that it is our opinion that all persons with sound minds deplore the loss of life by accident, whether by drowning or otherwise; but also believe that when persons deliberately or carelessly disregard "warning signs" erected for their protection, they are personally at fault. Therefore, if the persons who lost their lives in the "channel entrance" had heeded the "warning" they, in all probability, would be living today.

$650,000 INSUFFICIENT

A prominent financier of the county, related to the writer a conversation he had with a Harbor proponent, as follows:

Harbor Man: I came in to learn why you are opposed to the Harbor bonds.

Financier: Because you are not asking for enough to properly construct the channel entrance.

Harbor Man: How much do you think we should have?

Financier: Not less than $1,500,000.

Harbor Man: That's ridiculous. You know the people would never vote that amount.

Financier: I know they wouldn't and I would not vote for less, as it would be just throwing the people's money away.

WHO WOULD PAY THE BONDS IF VOTED?

Total assessed valuation of Orange county—$152,611,460.

Total assessed valuation of Newport Beach city—$3,753,365.

Therefore out of the proposed $650,000 Newport Beach city would pay approximately only $16,986, leaving $634,014 for the county to pay. This, unfair as it is, would not be so bad, were it not a fact that persons owning property in Newport Beach city, but residing outside of the county (and there are hundreds of them), would only pay their pro-rata of the $15,986—Newport's share of the Harbor costs, and the balance would be paid by the taxpayers of our county.

This plea is being made in the interests of the producer—more especially the walnut growers, who, in many instances have had to sell their crops for less than their taxes.

In closing, allow the writer to state that there is still outstanding of the 1919 harbor bonds, $380,000.

BOTTLE STOPPER SUES

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10.—Umpires are generally the ones who complain of the indiscriminate handling of pop bottles at ball games, but James Barrett, a fan, filed suit for $50,000 damages because, he charged, a pop bottle fell from an upper tier of the stands at Forbes field last summer and struck him on the head. The Pittsburgh Athletic club, operator of the park, was named defendant in the action, which set forth that Barrett had lost the proper use of his mental facilities because of the accident.

FRANCES WILLARD JUNIOR HIGH BOYS SHOW KEEN INTEREST IN CHORUS WORK

Frances Willard junior high school boys, who will sing, as a part of the Santa Ana Boys' chorus, next Thursday and Friday nights, in the high school auditorium.

Complete Program Mastered for Presentation
In Concerts

Conceived only a little more than two months ago, the Santa Ana Boys' chorus is fully organized and has mastered a complete program of classical and semi-classical numbers, which will be heard in the two concerts given by the chorus next Thursday and Friday nights, in the high school auditorium, officers of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the chorus, said today.

The officers said they felt particularly proud of the record made by the Santa Ana music teachers, under the leadership of Mrs. F. H. Beeson, in buckling down to the task and accomplishing it in such a creditable manner. The boys have applied themselves like Trojans and the result of their labors will reflect credit upon all persons concerned with the organization of the chorus, it was added.

Tickets for the two concerts will go on sale tomorrow, in downtown stores. Further announcement in that respect will be made later.

The following comment upon numbers to be given by the Boys' chorus, in their two concerts, was written by Mrs. Beeson:

Folksongs Not Made

"Folksongs are not made, at all; they grow and spread, and are heard in many places at once. A folksong is not the work of one man, but of a tribe, a nation, a race. True folksongs have passed through generations by word of mouth. They depict the familiar experiences of daily life. They were sung and enjoyed before anything was known of harmony or written music."

"Russia has a wealth of folksongs. These include songs of labor, prison, marriage, death, superstition, and play."

"The Song of the Volga Boatman" is the song that the hard-working peasant boatmen sing in their work of drawing heavy grain boats up the Volga river against the stubborn current. Bands of men, weary but steadily, walk on the shore in a steady gait, and pull on stout ropes to which the boat is tied. The peasants have had to do this for many generations, and to lighten the labor of their toil, sing and pull the ropes to the rhythm of this song. Many of the Russian folk-songs portray the hardships and oppression of the people. Their songs have an unusual melody, strongly marked rhythm, and an unusual sense of harmony.

Chinese Mother Goose

"A group of 'Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes' will be given by Eugene Best. These are translations from Chinese Mother Goose rhymes built upon original musical themes."

"The words to 'What the Old Cow Said' follow:

A sad old cow to herself once said,
While the north wind whistled through her shed:

To head a drum they will take my skin

And they'll file my bones for a big hairpin,

The scraps of bone they will make into dice

And sell them off at a very low price;

My sinews they'll make into whips,
I wot,

And my flesh they'll put in a big soup pot.

"Of What Use is a Girl?"

"We keep a dog to watch the house,
And a pig is useful too;

We keep a cat to catch a mouse,
But what can we do?

With a girl like you?"

"The Old Woman?"

"There was an old woman, as I have heard tell,

She went to sell her pie.

But her pie would not sell.

She hurried back home,

But her door-step was high

And she stumbled, and fell

And a dog ate her pie!"

"William Tell?"

"'William Tell' is an opera which portrays the land of Switzerland at the time when their people were struggling to gain freedom from their tyrannical ruler and be a republic. We all know the story of William Tell's skill as an archer.

He was so skillful that he hit an apple on his son's head with an arrow without harming his boy.

This same man was one of the patriots who helped to make his country a republic, in which each person has a right to help decide his fate and affairs.

"The Turkish March"

"The Turkish March" was written by Beethoven to accompany a play, "The Ruins of Athens," which was given at the opening of a new theater, in 1812. The march will be played as a piano duet by Earl Motley and Duncan Arnolds.

Gun Club Appeals Hearing Will Be Held January 17

Hearing on appeals filed by the Blue Wing Shooting club and the West Shore Gun club, which organizations were convicted of wasting water on their preserves and were fined $300 each by Justice Kenneth E. Orrison, was today set for Jan. 17, 1927, in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court.

The appeals hearing, it was said today, will be watched with intense hearing by the agricultural interests of the county and the gun clubs, as the present prosecution of the clubs is regarded as a fight to the finish, to definitely determine the situation of the gun clubs in relation to their use of water.

Defense Attorneys L. A. West, of Santa Ana, and George Adams, of Los Angeles, are said to be determined to upset the lower court verdicts and to establish the use of water by the gun clubs as a legal right.

The charge against the two clubs alleges that they used water from artesian wells for a purpose not beneficial and that they allowed unnecessary flow of the water, regardless of whether the use was beneficial.

BASEMENT IN LEGION HOME TO BE ALTERED AND TURNED OVER TO NATIONAL GUARDS

Santa Ana post, No. 131, American Legion, last night voted to spend a large sum of money in laying a concrete floor in the basement of the legion building. The basement will be turned over to Santa Ana's National Guard company, in exchange for two rooms on the second floor of the building, which will be used by the post as clubrooms.

At the present time the rooms on the second floor, are rented to the guard company as storerooms for arms, ammunitions and other supplies. The rooms have become inadequate for the equipment and the basement will be arranged so as to comply with the wants of the soldiers.

Auxiliary Serves Dinner

Last night's meeting of the post was preceded by a dinner, served by the Legion auxiliary. Entertainment was furnished by the Forty and Eight society. More than 150 members were present.

Entertainment included a show, staged by the auxiliary of the Brea American Legion post, secured through Frank Mason, leader of legion activities in Brea, who also was responsible for the appearance of an orchestra, the "Brea Syncopators," which played a series of dance selections.

The Three Foster Sisters, another act on the Forty and Eight bill, sang "Somebody's Lonely" and "Mary Lou," accompanying themselves on ukuleles. They then gave a dance number.

An honor guest last night was Mayor Frank Purinton, who made a short talk, praising the post for the manner in which it staged the Armistice day celebration here on November 11. He stated that he never had seen a worthy project in Santa Ana that had not been endorsed by the American Legion.

Vote Against Dances

Following dinner, the tables were cleared and legionnaires went into business session. They voted against holding more dances during the remainder of the season. Ed Kolbe, chairman of the dance committee announced that the post had added approximately $300 to its treasury through the dance parties.

Plans to work for a victory in the harbor bonds election next Tuesday, were discussed last night, with J. V. Connell named chairman of a committee to see that voters are taken to the polls in cars supplied by legion members.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Two knotty problems of etiquette are unraveled by more or less authoritative mentors in the local press: A divorcee, when registering at a hotel, should sign both her own and her husband's name, thus "Mrs. Elliott Brown" and "all chastising of children should be left to mothers, with fathers lending moral support."

He says he is up in the big show to stay this time.

With Christmas only 15 days away, the Orange County Shrine club is preparing for its usual program of Christmas relief work, according to the president, Joseph P. Smith. As a result of the annual charity ball, in St. Ann's Inn, on the night of November 12, and other sources of revenue, of which only the Shriners know, the country organization is well prepared to play Santa Claus to hosts of unfortunate folk.

The club also is ready to receive suggestions as to outlets for its charity. Anyone knowing of worthy cases may call either the president, Noble Smith, telephone 107, or C. W. Baxter, telephone 121. Noble Baxter is in charge of relief work. The club's intention, this year, is the same as in previous years—to confine its giving to the necessities of life, rather than toys and trinkets.

As an example of the help bestowed, here was one needy family, last year, which was outfitted with shoes. Every child in the family (and there were nine little ones) was in dire need of shoes and, as a result of Santa's visit, there were nine pairs of active, sturdy, little feet comfortably and suitably shod, all in readiness for school. This is the class of work which the Shriners want to do again this year.

On Wednesday night, December 22, Christmas tree festivities for children will be held on the stage in the Sirrine auditorium, Los Angeles, and there will be a presentation of gifts to the children present. The entire lower floor of the auditorium will be given over to them, with the balcony reserved for Shriners and their families.

A ceremonial will be held in the temple, in Los Angeles, on Monday night, December 20.

The annual meeting for election of officers of the Orange county organization will be held early in the new year, with the tentative date of January 6 selected.

The present officers are Joseph P. Smith, president; Herbert O. Davis, secretary, and C. J. Dunham, treasurer. Sam Jernigan is Orange county representative of the potentate.

SOLVE ETIQUETTE PROBLEMS

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Two knotty problems of etiquette are unraveled by more or less authoritative mentors in the local press: A divorcee, when registering at a hotel, should sign both her own and her husband's name, thus "Mrs. Elliott Brown" and "all chastising of children should be left to mothers, with fathers lending moral support."

He says he is up in the big show to stay this time.

County Banks Make Ready
To Honor U. S. Credits
For Christmas Loans

SUMS TO VARY ON SERVICE RECORDS

Amount to Be Borrowed to Increase Each Year If Money Is Repaid in Time

Two thousand former American soldiers and sailors now residing in Orange county, can go to their banks on January 1, 1927, and borrow money in the amount of from $100 to $150 on the government insurance policies issued them two years ago, in the form of compensation for their services to their country during the World war of 1918.

First loan values on the thousands of policies will be attainable on the first day of the new year, and from the number of loans requested during the past year, by ex-service men, banks in the county are expecting to do a big loan business with former service men after the first of the year.

Loan Requests in Early

The First National Bank of Santa Ana has had a number of requests during the year for loans on policies, but none of the loans were made, because, until January 1, the policies have no value unless the soldier or sailor dies, when the entire amount of the policy is paid to his beneficiary in the same manner an old life insurance company pays its losses.

An ex-service man may use his credit to purchase Christmas goods this month, and pay off the debts incurred with the money coming to him at the first of the year.

Banks throughout the country will handle the loans, in the opinion of Charles Cotant, president of the Orange County Trust and Savings bank, which institution is also expecting to make a large number of loans. He said that there would probably be two ways for former soldiers to secure loans on their policies, from the government itself and from the banks.

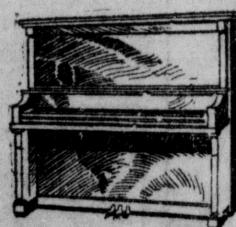

The government loans will probably be made at 5 per cent interest, while the banks will probably charge an interest fee of 7 per cent, in Cotant's opinion. In case the government makes the loan, then the policy would have to be sent to Washington, where it would be kept until the money is repaid by the borrower.

Policies Vary in Amount

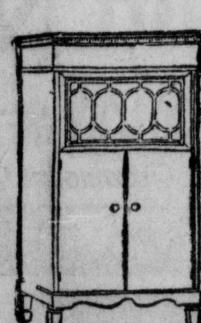

All of the policies received by Orange county service men are not for the same amount, varying in accordance with the age of the soldier at the time he served his country and with the length of overseas service.

A soldier, 26 years old at the time the government issued the policies, which became effective on

To End Own Life

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—Jess Pitkin, 35, of Fullerton, late yesterday made two attempts to commit suicide from the automobile ferry El Paso by diving into the bay. Members of the ship's crew forcibly rescued him each time.

Jess Pitkin is unknown in Fullerton, investigation by The Register revealed today. County directories fail to list the name and no such person is known at the Fullerton post office.

SEEK CLOTHING FOR DESTITUTE
MEXICAN FOLK

An appeal for cast-off clothing and articles of bedding, to be used in the relief of several destitute Mexican families, some of them on the point of starvation, was issued today by Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, president of the Santa Ana city federation of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Reports brought in by school officials and Parent-Teacher members show a most distressing condition among the Mexican families, a state of affairs that not only should receive the attention of the proper authorities, but also interest all public spirited citizens, Mrs. Spangler declared.

Without Adequate Clothing

Among the most striking cases that have been brought to the attention of P.T.A. executives was that of a widowed mother and seven children. This mother has been receiving county aid for some time. She has been advised, however, that such aid will be discontinued at the end of this month. This family is without adequate bedding and clothing for the children, it was reported.

Made the subject of much comment among P.T.A. officials is the case of another Mexican woman, who, taken from the hospital, was forced to spend a cold night in a wooden shed, the front of which had no door or board covering. To keep the woman from freezing, the neighbors built a bonfire in front of the open side of the shed and the fire was kept up the whole night.

Died From Under-Nourishment

In the Delhi Mexican district, a small infant gasped its last breath as the school officials entered to ascertain the reasons for the continued absence of a pupil. Inquiries revealed that the baby died from under-nourishment and that the truant child has been compelled to stay at home to assist in household duties.

It also was brought out by the investigation made by the P.T.A. officials that a number of truant cases among Mexican children are traced to lack of clothing, lack of food or other forms of destitution. Frequently, an elder brother or sister is compelled to remain at home while the mother is sick and the father is out hunting work.

People desiring to assist the P.T.A. in providing needy families with clothing and bedding should communicate with Mrs. Spangler, telephone 1966.

POSTMASTER ADVISES PUBLIC
HOW TO AID IN EXPEDITING
CHRISTMAS MAIL MOVEMENT

Santa Claus has put in his appearance at the Santa Ana post office and, for the next two weeks and more, he'll be busy hustling mail sacks and seeing to it that Christmas presents reach their destinies on time.

Old U. S. Santa Claus is all ready to do his part. If the parcels and greetings cars get to him on schedule time, he'll do his best to get them delivered.

Word from the Santa Ana post office is to the effect that arrangements have been completed for handling both outgoing and incoming mail expeditiously.

"We propose to have parcels weighed, stamps sold and insurance receipts issued rapidly," said Postmaster T. E. Stephenson today.

"Last year the patrons were waited on in such a manner that practically nobody ever had to stand in line outside the door of the post office. The day the reindeer were in town we had a rush of persons to the post office. Scores of persons, who were downtown to see the reindeer, selected the half-hour immediately after their departure as the time to mail parcels. Even in that rush, the lines did not get out on the sidewalks. Most post offices allow the lines to extend out into the street. We don't want that."

"In order that we may successfully expedite mailing and reduce to a minimum the length of time it will take to mail a parcel, we must have the co-operation of the public.

Here are a few suggestions:

"Parcels and greetings letters and cards to points within one day's travel should be mailed not later than December 20; within two days travel, not later than December 18; three days travel, December 16; more distant points, December 14; for local delivery, not later than December 22. This advice is given by the post-office department, in Washington.

"Christmas greetings should be in the mail not later than December 22. Buy your supply of two-cent stamps for your greetings cards now. That may save you waiting in line next week or the week following, when windows are crowded with mailers of Christmas parcels. There'll be no reduction in cost, so why not buy your two-cent stamps now?"

MONTEREY IN OPPOSITION TO NEW BEE LAW

Opposition to the proposal that control of the honey industry and appointment of county bee inspectors be removed from county boards of supervisors and transferred to the state department of agriculture is not confined to Orange county individuals, it was found today, when the board of supervisors received a communication from the Monterey county board.

The communication, in the form of a resolution, adopted by the Monterey county solons, in Salinas, recently, protests against the move referred to and invites the boards of other counties to enlist in the fight against legislation on the resolution provides.

Representatives of Monterey county in the state legislature will be requested to fight the bill known as the new bee law, when it is brought before the legislature, the resolution provides.

The resolution is as follows:

"Resolved by the board of supervisors of the county of Monterey that we hereby register a protest against passage, by the legislature of the state of California, of the bill now being advocated by certain persons, known as the (new) bee law, taking the appointment of bee inspectors and control of the honey business from county boards of supervisors, to place the same under the state

29 Chickens and Three Dozen of Eggs Are Stolen

Chicken thieves, who last night visited the place of H. C. Sperry, West Fifth street, Santa Ana, were not content to steal 20 white leghorn hens and nine Rhode Island chicks, but also took three dozen eggs, according to a report on file at the sheriff's office today.

Officers said it was the first time they can remember when thieves took eggs, too.

A trunk, stored in the chicken house, also was ransacked and its articles scattered about the place, according to the report.

Three-quarters of the east side and three-quarters of the south side of the original quadrangle construction have stood through the years and are familiar to thousands of visitors at San Juan Capistrano.

The proposed porch wing will be 252 feet long and 34 feet wide, with arched corridors on the south side, which is the side facing the patio.

The cost has been estimated at $50,000. Frederick H. Ruppel, of Pasadena, will act as superintendent of construction. The first crew arrived and began work today under the direction of Archibald Sears, foreman. It is expected by the Rev. Mr. O'Sullivan that the wing will be completed and ready for dedication on August 1, 1927.

The plans were drawn by Arthur H. Benton, of Los Angeles, a fellow of the American Society of Architecture, noted for his work in connection with the mission form of buildings.

Much of the material needed for the construction has been promised as gifts from friends of the mission and the Rev. Mr. O'Sullivan. The remainder of the financing will be taken care of by a loan on the mission properties, to be paid on the collections from the small fee collected from visitors.

Failure to file their oaths automatically creates a vacancy in their office, the law provides, according to Backs.

The clerk said that he mailed all election notices on November 18 and that, in the ordinary course of business, all notices should have been delivered between November 18 and 20. Thus, he said, the time limit for filing oaths would expire for the candidates variously between December 18 and 20.

Backs conceded that it might be difficult to prove that any candidate had failed to file his oath "within 30 days after receiving notice of election." The law, it seems, doesn't say "within 30 days after the mailing of notices," but specifies that the time allowance is from the time such notice is received.

Leaves Large Loophole

That would leave a large loophole for the candidate, said Backs.

There is no provision for recording the time that the notices are delivered, such as sending them by registered mail or special delivery, he said. The fixing of the time that the notices actually reach the hands of the candidate is pretty much in the hands of the candidate himself. There would be no way of proving that he didn't receive his notice at any time he said he received it, perhaps a week, or two weeks, or a month after it was mailed to him, Backs said.

He might be away from home when his notice arrived. And even if he was at home and got his notice, he could say that he was away and could "get away with it," the county clerk believes.

"Facing the loss of his office, any candidate might be strongly tempted to slip through the loophole so invitingly placed in front of him," said Backs.

All of which led to the belief, today, in most quarters, that the particular law threatening to deprive delinquent candidates of their office was somewhat of a "dud."

The popular song, "Sing Me to Sleep," which brought its composer a fortune, was the result of but 10 minutes' work.

RESTORATION WORK AT "JEWEL OF FRANCISCAN CHAIN" WILL COST APPROXIMATELY $50,000

Seventy-one years after Abraham Lincoln signed the land office patent, restoring the lands and building of Mission San Juan Capistrano to the Catholic church for "religious and educational purposes," the ruins of the "jewel of the Franciscan chain" are to be made to conform to the purposes for which the patent was signed.

The Rev. St. John O'Sullivan, the Kentucky padre, who came to the mission to die, in 1911, but who became so imbued in the restoration of the ruins that he regained robust health, today announced that work had started on a construction program which will convert the tumbled adobe of the north wing into quarters for a convent and religious school.

Three-quarters of the east side and three-quarters of the south side of the original quadrangle construction have stood through the years and are familiar to thousands of visitors at San Juan Capistrano.

The proposed porch wing will be 252 feet long and 34 feet wide, with arched corridors on the south side, which is the side facing the patio.

The plans were drawn by Arthur H. Benton, of Los Angeles, a fellow of the American Society of Architecture, noted for his work in connection with the mission form of buildings.

Some of the candidates elected to office on November 2, who so far have delayed the duty of filing their oaths of office, as required by law, must comply within the next few days or risk forfeiture of their offices, it was declared today.

County Clerk J. M. Backs admitted that he has not yet received the oaths of a number of officials-elect. He also admitted that but little more than a week remains, probably, for some of these individuals to qualify themselves to keep the offices they won. And he likewise confessed that, if they didn't so qualify, they might spend a Christmas lacking the familiar descriptive term: "Merry."

Must File In 30 Days

Quoting the section of the California political code relating to qualifying steps for office holders, Backs stated that all successful candidates for office must file their oaths with the county clerk within 30 days after receiving official notice of their election.

Failure to file their oaths automatically creates a vacancy in their office, the law provides, according to Backs.

The clerk said that he mailed all election notices on November 18 and that, in the ordinary course of business, all notices should have been delivered between November 18 and 20. Thus, he said, the time limit for filing oaths would expire for the candidates variously between December 18 and 20.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Conrad Nagel, Bert Roach and George Cooper, form the strange screen triumvirate of "Tin Hats," the picture opening Sunday at the West Coast-Walker theater.

"Tin Hats" is one of the big features of the season, and tells an hilarious story of three American doughboys who through a strange quirk of fate, find themselves in possession of a German village in the occupied area immediately after the signing of the Armistice.

Nagel plays the principal male role, as a wealthy American doughboy, whose boon companions are Bert Roach, as the German-American son of a St. Louis brewer, serving in the American army, and George Cooper as a former Chicago yegg, drafted into the army during the war. Claire Windsor plays the heroine, a German noblewoman, in the territory held by the American army of occupation.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Peppy and entertaining is the Sunburnt revue which will be presented tonight and tomorrow by Gene Collins and his company of four colored dancers at the Yost Broadway theater. They combine a number of attractive songs and a keen demonstration of various dance steps in their turn.

E. D. Pitzer and Maurice Downey will present a character classic study entitled "North and South," depicting two old soldiers of the Civil war, one from the southern army and the other from the north on their way to the national encampment at Washington. Entertainment is furnished through the means of singing, dancing and music.

Leslie and Vandergrift have a smooth, running act of harmony and solos, offering a delightful selection of catchy songs and ditties. Miss Leslie is a petite blonde with a golden voice, while Vandergift accompanies at the piano.

Harry and Nancy Cavana present a "free exhibition" in which the setting is the exterior of a circus tent. Harry does a novel contortion turn on a slack wire, while his partner plays a harp, and performs the difficult feat of

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

The popular comedy-drama, "Mr. Jim Bailey" is playing this week at Murphy's theater at Orana.

The play is written in three acts and requires two complete changes of stage settings to fit the action of the story.

An added attraction this week Charles Harrison, actor and author of 21 successful plays, including "Rarin' to Go," "Saintly Hypocrites" and "Mr. Jim Bailey," is appearing personally in the character lead.

USES ELBOWS IN PLAYING PIANO

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—A new and radical form of piano technique is being introduced to the musical world by Henry Cowell, 29-year-old California composer and pianist—the elbow forte.

Cowell, who claims entire credit for the innovation, has devised a technique which utilizes the elbow, forearm and palm, as well as the fingers, in his piano playing.

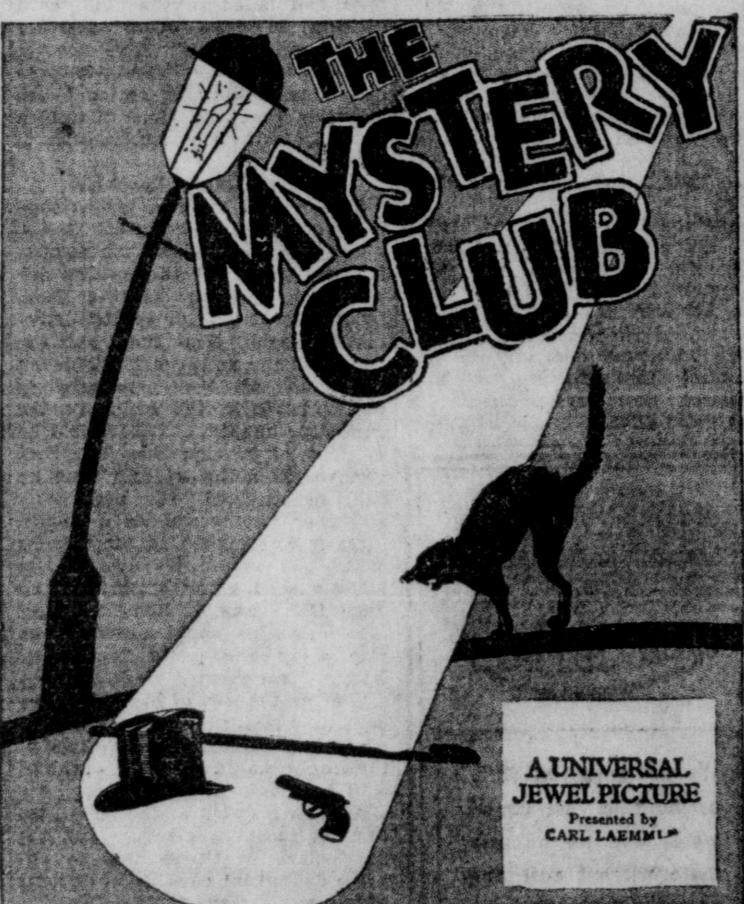

It is possible to strike 48 keys simultaneously by utilizing the "sensitized elbow" according to the musician, who has astonished critics in Europe and America by his new technique in tonal effects.

In playing via the new technique Cowell wears buttonless sleeves. His discovery, he said, was the result of 10 years of practice and experimentation.

small, mid-western American community.

Advance interest in the picture is further heightened by the fact that the plot has a strong vein of humor, which allows Pola in several scenes to step out of her usual emotional character and essay a little light comedy. Charles Emmett Mack, Holmes Herbert, Chester Conklin and Blanche McHaffey make up the quartette of principal supporting players.

The story centers around Pola, who is a European countess, and has its beginning in Paris where she discovers that her lover has been unfaithful to her. Broken-hearted, she sails for America to forget her love sorrows, and in time arrives at Maple Valley, Iowa, to visit her cousins. Needless to say, her presence in this small town gives the men something to think about and the women something to talk about.

he questioned the wisdom of establishing a junior college in every county.

Flag is Presented

The establishment of a large number of junior colleges throughout the state might have an adverse effect upon the great educational institutions, he remarked.

"While a junior college might serve a definite need in a certain locality, there are certain phases of culture as well as desirable contacts with great educational leaders which can only be obtained at great institutions of learning," Dr. Ball said.

A pleasant incident of the evening was the presentation of a silk American flag to the association by the Santa Ana chapter of the Women's Relief corps.

Following a brief address by Freeman H. Bloodgood, a local realtor, setting forth the economic phases of the proposed harbor improvement, the association went on record as favoring the harbor bond issue to be voted upon December 14.

PUBLIC ADVISED ON EXPEDITING HOLIDAY MAIL

insures a value up to $5; eight cents, from $5 to $25; 10 cents, from $25 to $50; 25 cents, from $50 to $100. The post office does not insure for more than $100.

"The post office will not insure parcels that are wrapped in fancy paper. Fragile articles must be well wrapped and packed. We won't insure cigars unless the box is wrapped in corrugated pasteboard. Be prepared to tell the clerk what is in the parcel. He must know in order to insure. It is not sufficient for you to say, 'It's not breakable.' The clerk must know whether it is a doll, a vase or a pair of shoes. The purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether the parcel should be marked 'fragile' and the clerk must be the judge of that.

Use Strong Cord

"By all means don't be afraid to use strong cord and plenty of it. Tie strong knots at every point where the cords cross.

"Whatever you do, don't forget to write your return address on every parcel you send out. We will not insure a parcel or register a letter unless the return address is on it. Put the return address at the upper left corner.

"These will be busy times for carriers. They must get receipts for insured parcels, so please answer your doorbell promptly, sign quickly and allow him to go on.

"Parcels under eight ounces go at a rate of 15 cents for two ounces. Over eight ounces, the pound rate prevails."

At the post office it was stated that many persons do not understand the post office's system of charging postage. There are eight zones, each with its rates.

All Southern California, including Kern and Santa Barbara counties, is in the first and second zones, which have the same rates, seven cents for the first pound, one cent for each additional pound, or fraction of a pound.

Fresno, Inyo, San Luis Obispo, Merced and Monterey counties are in the third zone; rates, eight cents for the first pound, two cents for each additional pound, or fraction.

Zone Rates Told

All the rest of California, above Merced and Monterey counties, is in the fourth zone; rates, nine cents for the first pound and four cents for each additional pound.

The rates for the other zones are:

Fifth, 10 cents for the first pound and six cents for each additional; sixth, 11 cents and eight cents for each additional; seventh, 13 cents for the first, 10 cents for each additional; eighth, 14 cents for the first and 12 cents for each additional.

Arizona and Nevada lie partly in the third and partly in the fourth; New Mexico and Utah partly in the fourth and partly in the fifth; Montana and Texas, partly in the fifth and partly in the sixth; Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, partly sixth and seventh; Alabama, Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, partly seventh and eighth.

The following states lie in the fifth zone: Colorado, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming.

Sixth zone: Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota.

Seventh zone: Illinois, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, Wisconsin.

Eighth: Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia.

DATE OF TRIAL IN FRAUD CASE SET

H. W. Gulledge, of Tustin, today pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. His trial was set by Superior Judge E. J. Marks for Jan. 31, 1927.

An information filed with the court today by Chief Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin, accused Gulledge of fraudulently gaining possession of 359 acres of land, in Summit county, Colorado, from E. Rockhill. Gulledge, it was charged, misrepresented the financial condition of the firm, Gulledge, Hall and Lundblade, with which he is said to be connected, in securing the land.

Attorney Charles A. Banks, of Los Angeles, is counsel for Gulledge.

Failure to Render Aid Case in Court

George Hunn, charged with failure to render aid after an accident on Hot Springs road, will go on trial in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court December 23, it was decided today, when he entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. Morris A. Calm, Santa Ana attorney, represents Hunn.

commissioner of agriculture, or any other person; and

"Resolved further that we request the senator and assemblyman from this district to oppose this bill or any other similar bill that may be substituted thereto, to the extent of their power."

The question first was brought to public attention here when Charles Havens, Orange apologist, addressed a communication to the county supervisors, urging them to oppose any transfer of control. Havens condemned the plan as a move to create political jobs and declared that he wanted to "keep his bees out of politics."

This is how Girling explains the meeting:

"As I am totally blind, one might imagine that my impressions would be rather vague, but I feel that they are very similar to those people who have not lost their sight."

"My greatest impression was that of his smile. It might perhaps be thought odd that a blind man should 'feel' a smile, but to me it was as expressive as if I had actually seen the prince. It was reflected to me in the pleasantness of his voice and the friendliness of his handshake."

"The thought of meeting the prince caused me a little nervousness, but this was unnecessary, for as soon as he spoke and shook hands with me I felt completely at ease, and knew that it was his wish that I should do so."

"He showed a kindly interest in all that passed between us, and as we continued to chat I 'felt' that he was smiling. The 'feel' of the smile recalled pictures of him that I had seen before the war, and it seemed to me that in spite of the passage of time he still retained that charm that was his as an Eton boy, and if I had been ignorant of his actual age I should have imagined that I was talking to someone of about 25 or 26 years of age."

"There only remains for me," concluded Mr. Girling, "to repeat the remark of General Gouraud, the military governor of Paris, in which he so aptly describes that prince—'A great prince, but most of all, a charming prince.' I might add, a 'Prince Charming'."

The prince chatted with Girling during the visit to the British Legion, while the prince was in Paris to open the Canadian Students' building, at the Paris university, and at the time, the prince's change of expression from that of greeting ordinary men to one of genuine sympathy on seeing a blinded ex-service man, was such as to cause all around the Prince to exclaim aloud, "wonderful."

Perpetual Christmas Gifts

Schaniel pointed out that the policies could be looked on by ex-service men as a perpetual Christmas present from Uncle Sam, in that every year a former service man could go to any bank, present his policy and borrow enough money to buy Christmas presents for all the members of his family.

The only drawback, he said, would be that the money would have to be paid back before the next Christmas season, so that the soldier or sailor could go back to the bank, the next year and secure another loan.

In other words, he said, the soldier or sailor should never be "hard up" at Christmas time, in that he always will have a source of income at Christmas time, provided he took the next 12 months to pay back the amount borrowed.

If the ex-service man who borrows the first of the year to pay his Christmas debts, pays back the money before the end of the year 1927, he will find that he can borrow more money next Christmas and it will be the same every year, Schaniel said. Each year for the next 18 years, the ex-service man can have more and more money for Christmas. At the end of 18 years, the policy automatically becomes paid up, and the ex-service men are paid the amount of their policies, less debts outstanding against the policies, in a lump sum.

HELD SIX MONTHS; GIVEN PROBATION

Alfino Hernandez, who was held in the county jail six months after his preliminary hearing, before his case was brought to the attention of superior court, where he was charged with escaping from an officer, was yesterday granted probation by Superior Judge James L. Allen. Hernandez, who escaped from a road gang, was held for trial at a preliminary hearing last May. The charge was not filed in superior court until a few days ago, at which time Judge Allen issued a reuke for the long delay.

There is an old superstition that nine holly leaves tied in a handkerchief with nine knots and placed under the pillow on Christmas night, will cause the sleeper to dream of his or her future wife or husband.

In Russia and Poland a little hay is placed upon the table at Christmas time to commemorate Christ's lowly birth, and this is afterwards carried out to the animals.

During the reign of Edward IV gambling was permitted in England during the 12 days of Christmas.

OVERTURE BY CIANFONI TO BE RADIO FEATURE

"The Red Wolf," an overture composed by D. C. Cianfoni, director of the Santa Ana municipal band, will be the second number on the program to be broadcast over radio KFON, Long Beach, by the Long Beach municipal band, at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, it was announced here today.

In the overture, Cianfoni describes an Italian village holiday. As such fiestas, the Italian people attend church in the morning and pass the afternoon in the plazas, many entertainment features being staged at the latter places. Sometimes men come down from the mountains with tame bears which dance to the music of bagpipe or tambourine.

At times the mountaineers bring with them a bear and a baby wolf. Seldom do the two animals get through their performance without fighting. Following the "bear will pass the hat," while the wolf will recline on the ground, recovering from the exertion of the fight.

The overture opens with an introduction, "Maestoso," announcing the approach of the man and the animals. The first movement is a dance in a Balero time, to which the animals are supposed to dance. The second movement represents the right and the third movement expresses the quietness after the fight. The fourth movement, a tempo primo, is designed to bring back to the minds of the spectators the fight. The piece closes with the theme used in the opening.

MANY ENTRIES IN FORD MILEAGE RUN

More than 25 entries had been made today in the contest, to be held tomorrow afternoon, for owners of 1926 Fords, it was announced by George Dunton, Santa Ana Ford and Lincoln dealer.

Dealers in the county are cooperating; in the event and are offering five prizes for the cars showing the greatest mileage on one gallon of gasoline, the first prize being $100 in cash. The second is $50 and the other three, merchandise prizes.

The cars will assemble in Garden Grove and the contest will start at 1 o'clock. A route 27 miles long, starting in Garden Grove, north to Lincoln avenue, west to Hawaiian Gardens, south to Westminster road and north to Garden Grove, has been laid out.

Elmer Heldt, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California; George Reid, secretary of the chamber of commerce, Anaheim, and Ray Leach, secretary of the Fullerton chamber of commerce, will officiate as judges.

ELMER SCHANIEL IS NEW DEPUTY CLERK

Appointment of Elmer Schaniel, American Legion official, as a deputy county clerk, to succeed H. M. Head, who will retire from the clerk's office January 1, was announced today by County Clerk J. M. Backs.

Schaniel, who is adjutant of Santa Ana post, American Legion, has resigned as secretary of the Builders' exchange to accept the appointment in the courthouse.

Head, who has been deputy clerk since department 3 of superior court was organized, in 1923, will enter the law offices of Head, Rutan and Scovel, where his father, Horace C. Head, is a partner. Head is court clerk in department 2 of superior court.

Nero, Noted As Rome's Fiddler, Also Bagpiper

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Nero not only played a fiddle but he also was a player of the bagpipes, an instrument illustrating a very ancient use of compressed air, said William Reaval in his presidential address to the Institution of Mechanical Engineers.

The subject was "Compressed Air." Besides Nero's bagpipes, Reaval said, organs with piston bellows were described by Vitruvius and Nero, while such instruments were also known to Archimedes and Plato.

The speaker also described how, before those periods, the Egyptian priests made use of compressed air to work "miracles" in their temples.

Crime Experts Write Best for Moving Pictures

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—It is now the contention of the movies that criminologists make the best scenario writers.

"This may sound formidable to the average person," declares Tod Browning, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, "but criminology is a study of man. The most humane men of my acquaintance are noted detectives and criminologists. They have learned to fathom the minds and motives of the human race, an ability which every good scenario writer must have. The realism of the screen consists of the portrayal of authentic mental reactions. The scenario writer who can set them down on paper has the mind of criminologists."

Browning is noted for his direction of such crook stories as "The Unholy Three" and "The Blackbird."

MORE FAVORABLE OUTLOOK FOR SUGAR BEET GROWERS

By G. A. RAYMER

Secretary, Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County

Since Nov. 1, 1926, the price of reduction in the world crop. The sugar has advanced 60 cents a bag, making the current refined quotation, $6.20, December 1, f. o. b. San Francisco, for beet sugar. This is the most favorable quotation since March, 1925. For more than a year, sugar has been selling for less than the cost of production of many companies. During the season 1925-26, the world crop was somewhat in excess of consumption, although the consumption of sugar in the United States is constantly growing, the per capita basis being 94.6 pounds in 1925, 99.8 pounds in 1924 and 107 pounds in 1923.

Experience has shown that no great commercial staple can long remain below the cost of production. Curtailment or restriction are inevitable when profit ceases. Late advice from Cuba states that President Machado will be in accordance with special authority granted him by congress, limit the coming crop to 4,500,000 tons, which is approximately 400,000 tons less than the 1925-26 crop. Current estimates indicate that the 1926-27 crop in Czechoslovakia will be 435,000 tons less than last year. The prospects for the first time in seven years, or since 1919-20, are for a

HANGING ISSUE FACING YOUNG: 5 ON SCHEDULE

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 10.—Five hangings, scheduled to take place in California during the first month of C. C. Young's term as governor, promise to bring capital punishment sharply to the front among problems to be faced by the new administration.

During the four years Gov. Friend W. Richardson has been in office, he has emphasized with pride his refusal to pardon men duly condemned to die by California courts, and in seeking re-election he made frequent reference to his consistent rejection of eleventh hour appeals for executive clemency.

What his successor will do in similar cases is therefore a question of more than usual public interest, and the scheduling of five executions for the opening weeks of the Young administration creates a situation destined to be closely watched by both friends and enemies of the new governor.

Records in the governor's office show the following convicted murderers slated to die at San Quentin or Folsom prisons between January 7 and February 4:

William J. Slater, of San Bernardino county, January 7.

Philip A. Goodwin, Orange county, January 14.

Sidney Adams, Los Angeles county, January 31.

Ray Arnold, Sacramento county, January 28.

E. K. Sayer, Arnold's companion in the killing of a Japanese woman, February 4.

All of the five except Arnold and Sayer are at San Quentin.

There are also three murderers in the prisons whose death sentences have been stayed by appeals to the supreme court. They are:

Milan Vuckich, Placer county;

Joseph Sandoval, Ventura county; and George Watters, Sacramento county.

DOOR CARVED IN STOMACH OF COW

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 10.—Scientists at the Pennsylvania State college agricultural experiment station have had a small doorway placed in the first and largest stomach of Penn State Homestead Jessie, a 2-year-old purbred Holstein heifer, for the purpose of analyzing food she eats.

Dr. S. L. Bechtel, of the station staff, has proved that a cow's milk will contain vitamin B, even when that necessary dietary substance is left out of all food she consumes. It is believed that the cow has the power of using the bacteria in her rumen to manufacture vitamin B.

Samples of Jessie's dinner will be taken through the little doorway, vitamin B dissolved in alcohol and extracted if present. The residue will be fed to rats. If the rats thrive like others that receive a vitamin B ration, Dr. Bechtel will be on the road to a solution of the problem. The operation was simple and harmless and Jessie still is a contented cow.

The rumen was sewed to the skin of the opening and when the two grow together in the course of another week the handy opening will be ready for use.

CHORISTERS TO GIVE PROGRAM DECEMBER 17

With the first public appearance of the Santa Ana Y.W.C.A. Dramatic club, added attractions will feature the program offered by the Santa Ana Y.M.C.A. Choristers, Friday night, December 17, according to a program announcement by the committee in charge of arrangements.

This club of young women has been at work for some time under the direction of Mrs. L. L. Beeman. Their offering on the concert program will be a one-act play, entitled "Six Cups of Chocolate," which will be presented between the first and second parts of the musical program.

The play centers around an episode in the lives of a group of college girls. The cast of characters will be as follows:

Adeline von Linda, Blanche Yukum; Marion Lee, Geraldine Franklin; Dorothy Green, Frances Reed; Beatrix von Courtland; Josephine Hoffman; Jeanette Durand, Melvina Frye.

The Y.M.C.A. Choristers will be heard in a program of old-time and modern popular music. The chorus, as it is to appear in the concert, includes 19 men. The program will include solos by Maurice Phillips, James H. Hughes and Hugh Osborn, selections by the Y.M.C.A. quartet, and cello solos, by Edward Burns.

Chicago Builds Fine Asylum for Indigent People

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—"Over the Hills to the Poorhouse" is not so pathetic a journey nowadays as when Will Carleton wrote his poem on the degradation of the indigent.

An example of the modern style of eleemosynary institution is Oak Forest, which cares for the destitute of Chicago. This home for old people is situated in a beautiful park with a 500-acre farm around it. For the care of nearly 8,000 inmates annually there are 80 brick and concrete buildings, a school house for tubercular children and many farm buildings.

Proper hospitalization is provided in separate buildings, fresh foods are furnished by the farms and wholesome bread is baked in an electric oven.

There are seven miles of corridors flooded with sunshine and fresh air, while the park is provided with foliated lanes, trellised bowers and enframed lounges.

To avoid the risk of idleness, work is provided in industrial shops for those not strong enough to labor on the farms. These shops and farms produced $108,000 worth of products in 1925.

All varieties of entertainment are provided. But the kindest provision is the row of cottages where impoverished married pairs may keep house and preserve domestic ties in spite of adversity.

FORMER THIEF TO BE SPEAKER IN S. A. CHURCH

R. W. "Razor" Fenton, who addressed the high school students Thursday, at their weekly assembly, on the subject, "Does Crime Pay?" will return to the city, speaking at 7 o'clock Sunday night, in the United Presbyterian church, Bush and Sixth streets.

Fenton is said to be one of the most interesting characters before the public today. For years he was known to the police of this country and Europe as a clever pickpocket and thief, but since his reformation, about nine years ago, he has been appearing before the leading business organizations of the country, speaking on the cause and prevention of crime.

It is said that no man nor woman can hear Fenton speak without being inspired and uplifted. His picturesque story is told in a graphic, gripping manner that holds his audience to the final period, it is claimed. Some of the features of his Sunday night talk will be on how he became a professional thief; how royalty once helped him rob; does crime pay the criminal?; is there honor among thieves?; the ethics of criminals; are criminals subnormal?; his reformation.

Fenton is a member of the Presbyterian church and Dr. W. H. McPeak has taken advantage of Fenton's presence in this section of the country to give the citizens of Santa Ana an opportunity to hear this timely subject.

COSTA MESA BEATS WILLARD SECONDS

BY BURDETTE HEINLY
The Frances E. Willard junior high school second stringers took a trip to Costa Mesa just to get beat, 8 to 6, by the grammar school football eleven there yesterday. The game went nicely all through the first half for the Willard boys but the tide turned as Belding came in for Costa Mesa and smacked through the Santa Ana line.

The Costa Mesa boys were heavier on the average than the Santa Ana team. Both elevens played well, but Costa Mesa finally got the game in the playoff of the tie.

Drury Is Named Pilot of Trojan Team Next Year

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—Morley Drury, star halfback and often termed "the sparkplug" of the Trojan offense, was unanimously elected captain of the 1927 University of Southern California football team.

Drury, who succeeds "Jeff" Cravath, had no opponent for the position. He was elected last night at the annual Southern California football banquet.

WAR VETERANS ISSUE VOLUME OF 20 POUNDS

PARIS, Dec. 10.—A volume weighing over 20 pounds, containing reproductions of signatures and manuscripts of kings, queens and presidents of the powers which participated in the great war, has recently been offered for sale in Paris by the FIDAC (International Federation of War Veterans), under the title of "Memorial des Allies."

Just as the "Pantheon de la Guerre," probably the greatest painting of its kind, gives the history of the great war in oil paint, so the "Memorial des Allies" gives in the respective languages of the countries involved, the history of the great war, written by some of the world's greatest authors and autographed by them and some of the most famous personalities of this age.

Specimens of the signatures and handwritings of ex-President Woodrow Wilson, President Coolidge, Marshal Joffre and Marshal Foch, are included in this unique volume, undoubtedly which is the only one of its kind ever published.

A feature of the "Memorial des Allies" is that it took four years to compile and that practically all of those who contributed to it, refused to accept payment of any kind for their work.

The idea of getting out the volume came with the French Bertrand, a French deputy, the president and founder of the F. I. D. A. C. M. Bertrand in 1919, was asked to have the Fidac take over the Herbert Hoover committee, its work and its funds, in connection with the 60,000 needy children of the French devastated regions.

He accepted and the Fidac became the patron of the one-time Herbert Hoover committee, which was rechristened, "Comite de Preservation de l'Enfance dans les Regions Liberees." (Committee for the Preservation of Childhood in the Devastated Regions.)

Thus, since the Hoover committee returned to America, the Fidac has replaced it in the distribution of the funds raised in America for the care of the Children in the Devastated Regions of France. According to requirements, the rechristened Hoover committee is supplied with funds by the Fidac, with which to maintain the Sanatoriums, children's colony vacation schools and medical clinics opened by Americans during the war.

Realizing, however, that the Hoover funds cannot last forever, Deputy Bertrand sought means of raising more money so that at no time in the future should the good work have to be discontinued, and so he decided to publish the "Memorial des Allies," selling it to the public at 2500 francs ($80) per copy, all of which goes to the Children's fund, after deducting printing and various minor expenses.

Big Crude Cement Deposit Located

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 10.—Enough crude cement, in a deposit found near Goshen Junction, Tulare county, to build highways and skyscrapers in California for the next half century, was reported by State Corporation Commissioner Clifford J. MacMillan, in granting the Valley Portland Cement company a permit to sell shares.

Tunney Honored By Kings County

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 10.—Gene Tunney has been awarded another title—that of honorary deputy county clerk of Kings county, for which he received a badge but no pay.

FLOWERS MAY FIGHT WALKER
NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—A return engagement between Mickey Walker and Tiger Flowers may be held in Madison Square Garden next May. Recently Walker won Flowers' title by a referee's decision which was questioned by some.

WINE PRICE ADVANCES
PARIS Dec. 10.—Although French wine growers complain of the loss of the American market, the price of wine here has skyrocketed, due largely to a poor yield in the vineyards. A cask of the best Bordeaux wine now costs nearly a thousand dollars, while the cheapest good brands sell at 4000 francs.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Register Want Ads
All Want Ads will be placed under their proper classification. No exceptions.

Persons, Situation Wanted and Furniture for sale will not be taken over the phone.

The Register will not be responsible for more than one time, and then only by republication. Absolutely no cash rebates allowed except at the direction of publisher. Errors not the fault of the advertiser which clearly lessen the value of the advertisement will be rectified only by republication, without extra charge, within FIVE days after insertion.

The Register will not be responsible for errors due to illegible copy.

All Want Ads must be in by 11 a.m. to insure proper publication in all regular editions.

BOX OFFICE REPLIES
The Postmaster's postoffice department is conducted for the benefit of patrons who wish answers to come to the office. Advertisers are furnished with identification cards which are presented at the Register office. For the protection of our patrons, replies are not given out except on presentation of card.

No record is kept of the names and addresses of patrons using The Register postoffice, and therefore no information concerning these individuals can be supplied.

A charge is made for the words "Box A234, care The Register."

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 10.—Richard S. Requa will be the speaker at the dinner-reception given next Monday night by the Laguna Beach Art association. Mr. Requa is a celebrated architect who specializes in the Spanish influence. He will display moving pictures made on a recent trip to the continent, showing the adaptability of the Southern European architecture to the Pacific coast.

BEACH MYSTERY
CASE UNSOLVED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 10.—The unidentified man whose body was found floating in the ocean here Wednesday morning came to his death in an unknown manner and might have been murdered, it was decided by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon.

The body will be held at the S. L. Harrell undertaking parlors until Saturday in an effort to determine the identity of the man. Efforts of police to secure any clue which might point to his identity have been unavailing. The body will be buried Saturday, according to present plans.

Minute descriptions of the man, including a complete description of the teeth, have failed to bring officers any information which might lead to the identification of the body.

LA HABRA BRIEFS

LA HABRA, Dec. 10.—Miss Electa Benson and James Cooley were united in marriage in Santa Ana last week. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Benson, of First street. She graduated from the local school and attended the Fullerton high school and later completed a business course in Los Angeles, where she was employed at the time of her marriage.

Mrs. George Holstein and children have returned to their home in Carthage after a week's stay with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Snider.

The children of the Wilson Mexican school are busy on their Christmas program, which is to be given December 17, at the Mexican camp. Each child in the school is preparing little gifts for their parents under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Larson.

H. J. Livingston motored to Orange County Tuesday on a business trip.

Mrs. Delphia Redfern and son, Donald, of Exeter, returned to their home in Exeter Tuesday after a few days' visit with relatives in La Habra.

Mr. Widie, gardener at the Lincoln school, is preparing the ground for new lawns to be planted at the Lincoln school, both north and south of the present lawn.

A membership campaign has been started by the local P.T.A. with Mrs. George Schlaggenhauff as chairman in charge. The drive will close December 17 and the room in each of the three schools securing the largest number of members for the association will be given a treat on that date.

Mrs. Taylor, of Seal Beach, will entertain the Young Matrons' Card club at the home of Mrs. Paul Cline Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Herrmann and son, John, and daughter, Harriett, of Litchfield, Minn., arrived in La Habra the first of the week.

They are visiting at the home of Mrs. Herrmann's mother, Mrs. Nellie La Monte, and sister, Mrs. J. A. Scofield. They expect to locate in Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Parlier, of Whittier, are the proud parents of a seven and one-half pound baby boy. Mr. and Mrs. Parlier are former La Habrarians.

The meeting of section three of the Ladies' Aid society, which was to have been held with Mrs. Milton Keeler Wednesday afternoon, was postponed on account of the rain.

Sunday following church services.

Mrs. C. Goodenough is quite ill. The Queen Esther society has postponed its Christmas party to Saturday. It will be held at the I. R. Nicklin home.

Dr. Edna Burgesson visited her sister, Mrs. Fred Rodman, in Glendale, Sunday.

Mrs. F. E. Halm, of La Habra Heights, is entertaining her father, Mr. Johnson, of Minnesota.

Mrs. F. W. Taylor, who has been confined to her home with rheumatism, is much better now.

Miss Margaret Livingston, county librarian, visited the local library the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kenney and son, Leslie, left yesterday for Merced for a few days business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McShane and family have returned to La Habra after several months stay in the northern part of the state.

The Rev. H. E. Wilhite, who has been conducting meetings at the Christian church, attended the ministers' meeting in Los Angeles Monday.

Mrs. Eunice Gardner, accompanied by students from the local seventh and eighth grades, attended Viljalmar Steffansson's lecture at Santa Ana high school Monday afternoon.

The local indoor baseball team will play the Laguna Beach team Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Munroe Johnson, of Glenwood, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Adams Sunday.

3 WELLS AT
H. B. FLOWING
6000 BARRELS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 10.—Three new wells were brought in yesterday in the western section of Huntington Beach. The three wells increased the production of the district more than 6000 barrels daily and brought the total number of producing wells to 56 and the total production in the town lot section to 58,000 barrels a day.

The Standard Oil company's H. B. No. 2, just across Twenty-third street on the Barley field tract, is proving a new surprise well. The well came in at 1800 barrels yesterday morning. The flow increased until last evening it was flowing at the rate of 2400 barrels a day. The well is at a depth of about 4238 feet.

The Standard also brought in its H. B. No. 3 on the corner of Ocean avenue and Twenty-third street yesterday, flowing 2000 barrels a day. The well gives promise of increasing its production.

The Julian Oil company completed its Davis well in block 117. The well came in at about 2000 barrels but is expected to settle down to about 1800. The well is at a depth of 4198 feet, it is reported.

Two more permits were issued to oil companies yesterday. Both of the rigs are to be located in the town lot section opened last spring. The California Petroleum corporation was issued a permit to erect a rig on Twenty-second street between Magnolia and Acacia avenues. J. Paul Getty was issued a permit to erect an oil rig on Twenty-second street between Orange and Olive avenues.

Since the first day's rush in the section just opened to oil drilling, no more permits have been taken out. Six permits were taken out the first day. Only one of the rigs is completed and it is located on Seventeenth street just across the street from the first town lot section to be opened.

From all indications, it seems that the oil companies may be content to await developments in the newly opened territory just as they awaited developments last spring when the Seventeenth street area was opened.

CAR DAMAGED IN H. B. TRUCK CRASH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 10.—A car owned and driven by C. L. Dillon, of 263 East Market street, Long Beach, was damaged here Wednesday evening, when it crashed into the rear of a truck load of pipe, according to a report at the local police station. No one was injured.

The name of the truck driver was not learned. J. D. Taylor, of 520 A Redondo street, and H. Wright, of 2546 Atlantic avenue, Long Beach, were passengers in the Dillon machine. According to Dillon, the truck was not carrying a red light.

Huntington Beach Plunge Improved

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 10.—Improvements costing several thousand dollars were being completed today at the Huntington Beach plunge in readiness for the opening of the plunge December 18, according to J. M. Barlow, manager.

The plunge has been closed for the past several weeks while extensive improvements were made. A new rough cement floor has been laid around the plunge to prevent slipping. A new boiler is being installed in the large filtering plant and the entire plunge has been repainted and renewed.

Barlow plans to have the plunge open for the Christmas vacation. Water will be turned into the plunge within the next few days, as it takes several days to warm the water in the huge tank.

SPRINGDALE

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 10.—The regular monthly meeting of the high school P.T.A. will be held at the high school on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The program is in charge of W. W. Wiesner.

Mrs. C. Goodenough is quite ill. The Queen Esther society has postponed its Christmas party to Saturday. It will be held at the I. R. Nicklin home.

Dr. Edna Burgesson visited her sister, Mrs. Fred Rodman, in Glendale, Sunday.

Mrs. F. E. Halm, of La Habra Heights, is entertaining her father, Mr. Johnson, of Minnesota.

Mrs. F. W. Taylor, who has been confined to her home with rheumatism, is much better now.

Miss Margaret Livingston, county librarian, visited the local library the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kenney and son, Leslie, left yesterday for Merced for a few days business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McShane and family have returned to La Habra after several months stay in the northern part of the state.

The Rev. H. E. Wilhite, who has been conducting meetings at the Christian church, attended the ministers' meeting in Los Angeles Monday.

Mrs. Gus Scott, wife of the night-watchman, is reported doing nicely following a major operation at the Murphy Memorial hospital in Whittier.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1926

PAGES SEVENTEEN TO TWENTY-FOUR

BIG INCREASE IS RECORDED IN LAGUNA BEACH POSTAL RECEIPTS DURING NOVEMBER

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 10.—A phenomenal increase in postal receipts was recorded here during November, it was announced today by Brayton S. Norton, postmaster.

The increase for the month amounted to 51 per cent over the receipts for the same month last year.

Postal receipts have shown a steady upward trend since the completion of the coast highway to Laguna Beach, according to the postmaster.

According to Norton, the population of the town, based on the postal receipts, has swelled from 1500 last year, to more than 2200 this year.

The increase in postal receipts is not due to the activity of any one person or firm but is well distributed, according to the postmaster. Norton declares that the postal receipts for the first 11 months of this year are about 25 per cent greater than during the first 11 months of 1925. He anticipates a much greater increase next year.

The latest completion in the Seal Beach field is the Standard Oil company's San Gabriel No. 2, which began flowing by heads yesterday afternoon. No gauge had been placed on the well late last night, and no estimates of the well's output were available. However, it was said that the water shut-off apparently was successful, and Standard drillers believed the well would be about as prolific as the Bixby wells of the Marland Oil company, which are averaging between 1500 and 2000 barrels a day. San Gabriel No. 2 is down 4432 feet.

The Standard Oil Company has authorized the location of six more wells, all on the San Gabriel property. San Gabriel No. 1 and No. 3 are now drilling. San Gabriel No. 4 is rigging up, and the newly authorized wells will be numbered from five to ten inclusive.

The Marland Oil company has spudded in its Bixby No. 6, which is at present its only active drilling well. This company is building derricks for several other wells on its Bixby and Selover leases.

Mrs. F. H. Greenwood, vice president of the P.T.A., was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. L. E. Allen. About 25 members of the association were present.

Mrs. Fred Smith was the hostess to members of the Coreopsis club Wednesday afternoon. The Smith home was decorated with marigolds and chrysanthemums. Refreshments were served by the hostess to Mrs. William Satterwhite, Mrs. C. C. Lambert, Mrs. Charles Steeman, Mrs. John F. Peiper, Mrs. Jennie Beckman, Miss Ida Alderman, Miss Audrie Peiper and Donald Peiper.

High school students, co-operating with the Parent-Teacher association of the local high school, will present a group of living statues in conjunction with the Laguna Beach art exhibit, which is now at the local grammar school. Miss Charlotte Vance, Harry Holmes, Charles Greenwood, Glen Eustis and Beth Collar were the speakers.

Mrs. F. H. Greenwood, vice president of the P.T.A., was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. L. E. Allen. About 25 members of the association were present.

The program will start at 6:30 p.m., it was announced.

Yesterday's meeting was held in the basement of the school building. Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Schlueter, Mrs. Max Simon and Mrs. William Abelainap.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 10.—Charles A. Kaithen, wealthy retired glass manufacturer, who came to Laguna Beach about two years ago from Detroit, was last night elected president of the Laguna Beach Community club.

Miss Anna Gayne Peake was elected vice president; Mrs. Howard Planalp, secretary; Howard Planalp, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. H. R. Macbeth, Mrs. Mae Dahney Salter, Frank W. Cuprien, W. W. Riddell and Robert Parker, members of the board of directors.

The club officers will be installed at the annual banquet of the club January 12. Incidentally, the date of the installation will be the sixth anniversary of the founding of the club. There are about 350 members in the organization.

Since the first day's rush in the section just opened to oil drilling, no more permits have been taken out.

Six permits were taken out the first day. Only one of the rigs is completed and it is located on Seventeenth street just across the street from the first town lot section to be opened.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 10.—A demand for new business buildings will be felt here in the near future, it is believed by many local business men. During the past few days, more than 15 empty store rooms have been taken up by new business enterprises.

The business section is enjoying a boom as well as the oil field.

Parking space along the main street of town is at a premium. A few months ago, a business man could select his own spot to park. Only a few cars were parked on main street during the day. Now, the same auto has to park two blocks from his store.

A new candy shop, a women's apparel shop, a bowling alley, several restaurants and a new pool room are numbered among the enterprises opened here during the past few weeks.

Crash at Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 10.—O. R. Dooley, 32, of Long Beach, yesterday pleaded not guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace when brought into local court. Dooley's trial was set for December 20 and bail was set at $100. He was unable to raise the money and is awaiting trial in the local jail.

Dooley was arrested recently at Pomona by Chief of Police Jack Tinsley, on the peace charge. Fred Stussey, local man, preferred the charge. According to Stussey, Dooley forced his way into a house where Stussey and some friends were staying and flourished a gun in a threatening manner.

Dooley recently paid a $300 fine in the city court on a charge of possession of liquor. According to police he also paid a fine on a possession charge in Pomona and is wanted in Inglewood on a forged charge.

NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL PRESENT PAGEANT SOON

ORANGE, Dec. 10.—Rehearsals for the Christmas pageant "The Light," to be presented by the chorus of the Woman's club in the Woman's clubhouse on the evening of December 20, are being held three and four times each week in an effort to gain perfection in the piece, according to Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, president of the chorus.

With the exception of juvenile parts, taken by talented children of the community, the entire pageant will be staged by members of the chorus. There will be instrumental solos and selections by the chorus.

Mrs. W. F. Kogler will portray the leading role. Sally and Dorothy Coe, juvenile performers, will dance. Martha Huscroft, Phyllis Kogler and Jeanette Veech are other juvenile members of the cast.

The pageant which has just been off the press a short while, traces the progress of the people of the earth. A prologue and four scenes make up the script. It will be presented in costume. H. M. Shelley, director of the Murphy players at Orana, is drilling the chorus in the stage parts. Mrs. Leon Des Larez, director of the chorus, is supervising the musical parts.

Because of the Christmas program and band concert in the plaza scheduled for the same night the showing of the pageant will not begin until 8 o'clock. The Lions' committee has assured members of the chorus that the downtown program will have been completed by then.

ORANGE

ORANGE, Dec. 10.—Members of the chorus of the Woman's club will be entertained by Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake at her home at 438 South Orange street next Monday afternoon. Mrs. Bonebrake will be assisted in entertaining the membership by Miss Mabel Thornburg, Miss Prince Bibber and Mrs. C. A. McGill.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Biffle, R. C. Biffle and Miss Lela Biffle, of Manchester, Okla., are making their headquarters at the Sunshine for their third winter in Orange. They motored here, encountering rain all the way.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wallace have learned of the arrival of a baby daughter to them yesterday.

Word has been received from Mrs. Ida Putman, who has been visiting her son in Rutland, Mass., stating she will arrive in Orange Saturday or Sunday.

Recent guests at the Sunshine were L. F. Woods of Los Angeles; W. E. House, of San Diego; G. A. Franz and J. D. Boyers, of Green River, Wyo.

Ed Higgins, of Canon City, Colo., arrived recently to spend the winter in Orange. He may locate in this vicinity. Mr. Higgins is a nephew of W. O. Higgins, of this city.

Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Hall, of Fresno, have returned to their home after a short visit at the T. P. Boring home. Dr. Hall is brother of Mrs. Boring.

Mrs. W. O. Higgins and Mrs. Frank Maroney and children spent Wednesday in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Coleman were Huntington Beach business visitors Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Bookless and son, of Los Angeles, were Orange visitors yesterday.

John Powers, of Pasadena, was an Orange visitor Wednesday evening.

The Hawaiian club held its regular weekly meeting Wednesday evening at the M. L. Bastedo home, North Pine street. The evening hours were spent playing Hawaiian music. At a late hour refreshments of sandwiches, salad, cocoa and coffee were served. Those present were Mildred Wischon, Mandie Lively, Bessie Brand, Elma Ritter, Musetta Liming, Wayne Huffman, Pedro Royleas, of Anaheim; Paul Welch, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fowler, Mrs. Faye Easton and Mrs. M. L. Bastedo.

The Sew and Sell club of the Daughters of Union Veterans will hold a bazaar at 123 South Glassell street Saturday. All members are urged to come early and bring articles, including cooked food, fancy work and home-made canaries.

Class In English For Mexicans Of El Modena Formed

ORANGE, Dec. 10.—Night school activities of the local educational system has been established for Mexicans, according to Alfred Higgins, night school principal. The class started with an enrollment of 23. It meets every evening. Mrs. Anna Roy is the teacher.

This makes the third class for the education of Mexicans which has been organized by the local night school department. One of the two classes conducted in the Orange high school at night has been discontinued because so many of the pupils moved north to work. Thus only one class remains in the local schools. It is taught by Mrs. R. C. Patton.

A business English course will be organized after the Christmas holidays. In this class, letter writing, grammar and spelling will be taught.

ROTARY GOVERNOR URGES WORLD PEACE

ORANGE, Dec. 10.—Need for international peace was stressed by Fred McClung, district governor of Rotary clubs, in a speech to the Orange club yesterday at the Hotel Rochester at the regular weekly luncheon meeting.

McClung's district takes in Hawaii, California, Nevada, New Mexico and Arizona.

McClung was introduced by Dr. C. S. Parker, president.

American And Moslem Women Society Topic

ORANGE, Dec. 10.—Moslem women are different in many respects from American women, it was declared at the monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church by Mrs. T. E. Parsons, who conducted the study on Moslem and American women. Impersonations of Moslem women were given by Mrs. Harry Nuffer, Mrs. Al Kuchel, Miss Nora Edwards and Mrs. Fred Lentz.

It was decided following the discussion of the topic of the day to hold the annual thanks offering on January 30, with Mrs. Vida Baker, man of India, as a speaker. Mrs. Bakeman was born and reared in India of American parents. She has served as a missionary there for many years.

Entertainment at yesterday's session was furnished by Mrs. Harry Nuffer, vocal soloist; Miss Neil Sonoren, piano soloist, and a trio composed of Mrs. W. G. Gilton, Mrs. A. G. Parsons, and Mrs. J. E. Park.

Prune Growers Worried Over Polish Embargo

PORTLAND, Dec. 10.—About the time the expression "ya poor prune" came into general use, the growers of that kind of fruit reared up on their heels and demanded that fun artists cease making sport of this former army man, humor, but present break-fast dainty.

Now that the social virtue of the prune has been recognized, the growers still complain, and with even better reason.

This arose from the action of the government of Poland in declaring an embargo on prunes because they are a luxury.

Oregon growers have asked Senator Charles L. McNary to learn whether prunes are really a luxury.

Search Warrant Required Under 'Bone Dry' Act

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—Authorities in Alaska have no more right to search private homes without search warrants than officials in any other domain of the United States, despite the bone dry law in Alaska, it was ruled here by Judge William James of the U. S. circuit court of appeals. The district attorney of Alaska claimed that under the bone dry act search without warrant was legal.

Poultrymen of County to Meet

Announcement was made today by W. C. Childers, chairman of the poultrymen's department of the farm bureau, of a meeting to be held in the farm bureau office on Tuesday night, December 14. The services of a building specialist from the University of California have been secured through the farm advisor's office. There will be several talks by Orange county men on what they learned at the Baby Chick association meeting held this week at Van Nuys. The committee on locating an avian pathological laboratory in the Southland will have definite progress to report, it was said. All interested poultrymen are invited to attend the session.

The Fraternal Aid union will have a pot luck supper this evening at 6:30 o'clock in Odd Fellows' hall.

Redlands Co-eds Make Own Dates; Split Expenses

REDLANDS, Dec. 10.—Co-eds at the University of Redlands are making their own "dates" and splitting the expenses therein occasioned.

Inauguration of the "Dutch treat" plan followed an editorial in the school paper, in which male students complained of the financial burden attendant upon "dating."

The editorial suggested that the co-eds split "50-50" on the price of entertainment and refreshments.

The co-eds accepted this agreement with a single reservation, which was that they be allowed to take the initiative in making engagements.

HOLY BIBLE STILL BEST SELLING BOOK

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—The Bible still is the world's best seller. A comparison at a mail order house here with the kind and number of books sold, discloses that more than 150,000 Bibles have been dispatched this year to all parts of the world, a generous proportion going to missionaries in foreign countries.

Purchasers in the country will not tolerate innovations in Bibles. They are satisfied with and demand plain black leather binding and easily readable type, and most all want the King James version.

The demand for "clean" books is becoming more urgent; the farmer and small town resident apparently having no time for literary "trash."

PLAYED HUNCH, BUT PLAYED IT KIND OF LATE

Arthur K. Ford, Los Angeles, former first lieutenant in Company L, Seventh California National Guard, of Santa Ana, played a hunch yesterday, but his hunch came rather late.

For several months, former members of Santa Ana's company had attempted to communicate with Ford, to invite him to a reunion, held here, in honor of Col. Nelson M. Holderman, a week ago last Saturday.

Ford's whereabouts were unknown and therefore his former comrades were unable to invite him to the reunion.

Yesterday Ford came to Santa Ana. "I had a hunch that old Company L was going to have a reunion, so thought I'd come down and see," he told Jack Fisher, another former member of the organization.

"Well, we're glad to see you, but you're just a week late," Fisher told him, and then narrated what took place at the meeting.

Ford now holds a position that will necessitate his traveling through Santa Ana every two weeks, he said, and is eager to see all former members of the Santa Ana company.

Movie Chatterbox

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Once upon a time there were four brothers who got along together.

Now if this seems incredible, please consider the circumstances of their lives. They were always so busy in youth fighting for existence that they didn't have time for the usual brotherly disagreements. And by the time they were old enough and affluent enough for discord, the cement had hardened.

So today, as then, the Warner brothers—Harry, Al, Sam and Jack—set a business example in how to get along though related.

Bread-Winners at 10

The Warner brothers, as you doubtless know, are among the biggest of the film producers—but when each of the four had reached the age of 10 he learned to get out and work to maintain the household.

This experience, they will tell you, was the basis of a success that can put its signature to million-dollar productions—and does!

Their parents had come from Russia and, in the new world, the youngsters had no choice of occupation.

Harry went to work for a packing house; Sam went to firing on the Erie railroad; Jack sang in a movie house and Albert trucked. They were not the sort that stuck to a job long—though this is frequently given as a recipe for success. But they were perpetually dissatisfied.

Start Movie Theater

In 1903, in New Castle, Pa., they opened a tiny movie theater. The business grew. Soon they began distributing films. They opened an exchange and then, alas, the dozen producing outfits they had handled combined and the Warners could not get films for distribution. They had to sell out at a terrific loss.

Their next venture was another failure. They found themselves stuck with an assortment of unsaleable films. A couple of failures will make any business man think. Why were they failing?

The answer was that they couldn't get the pictures they wanted. Very well, they would make the pictures they wanted. Their first films were immediate box office hits.

Their competitors tried to buy them out. The four brothers decided they had the world by the neck and refused. But within a comparatively short time they were skidding down hill, crashed at the bottom and again found themselves penniless.

Three failures! Well, they were young. Out they started again. They recruited money, profited by past experiences and this time they went forth to be daunted by nothing. They signed up the great Lubitsch; they signed up John Barrymore; they bought Belasco plays. They plunged in every direction. That was just a couple of years ago.

Today they have a half dozen Barrymore releases, the box office cash boxes tinkle merrily and, finally, there is Vitaphone, which the four brothers sewed up after many had spurned it. They are acquiring theaters in important cities and attaining a position among the biggest concerns.

The point is that they had learned how to laugh at failure and how to grow with time.

FUTURE CALIFORNIA CITIZENS

In January of last year a boy lost his mother. She died of tuberculosis. Soon after this the boy was brought into the clinic by the nurse who feared he might have become an active case of tuberculosis. "We'll take no chances of his becoming active" said the doctor, so the boy was sent to a Preventorium. Gradually he was given sunbaths until his body became brown enough to wear a nature suit. RAILS TO LINK WEST EUROPE AND FAR EAST

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—The International Far East Traffic Association, which recently met in Berlin, has worked out a scheme for a thorough route between western Europe and the Far East.

The plan has been accepted by all the delegates, who were railway experts from 13 countries associated with the route from France and Belgium to Japan. If it meets with the approval of the competent authorities in the countries concerned, the through passenger route, with through registration of luggage, is expected to be opened on May 15, 1927.

Conference Makes List of Fares

The conference has drawn up a list of through fares from Paris, Brussels, Berlin, Rome, Prague, and other cities to Vladivostok, Peking, Shanghai or Tokio.

To give an example, the second class fare from Berlin to Tokio will cost about $160. The traveler will have the choice of two routes, via Riga and Warsaw, as far as Moscow. In all, it will take him 12 days to cover the 7500 miles to Tokio, where he will be able to obtain possession of his registered luggage at once.

The fare agreement concluded by the conference took a considerable amount of preparation, especially on account of the language difficulty. Four languages were used in the discussions and documents—English (for Japan and China), French, Russian and German.

Care Given to Legal Contracts

Some of the railways concerned had not yet adhered to the international conditions generally adopted for the regulation of relations between passengers and railways, and great care had to be given to the formulation of the legal contracts.

The "Polish Corridor" played a large part in the arrangement. It is proposed to run several trains on the northern route from Berlin to Moscow via Eydtkuhnen (East Prussia), and a special German-Polish convention is contemplated in order to make them available for East Prussian traffic, and in order to guarantee to passengers in transit across the "Corridor" freedom from customs and passport formalities.

Bad Roads Drive Autoists to Boats

PARIS, Dec. 10.—Holes in the French roads have driven many automobilists to the water. Motor boats are increasing in number and Frenchmen have discovered that the hundreds of canals and navigable streams in their country provide a dust-free and inexpensive vacation.

So great has been the increased interest in boating that a nautical exhibition, devoted largely to the inexpensive kinds of canoes, row-boats, sailing craft and motor boats, was held in conjunction with the annual automobile show. Motor boat trips on the Seine provided novel thrills.

Thousands of Frenchmen learned for the first time the France could be traversed in any direction by means of the canals and navigable rivers.

VICTOR'S WIT
ROME, Dec. 10.—King Victor Emmanuel of Italy has a sense of humor. Chatting with Mussolini recently, the king dropped his handkerchief. The dictator picked it up and asked if he might keep it as a souvenir. "No," said the king. "It is the one thing left which you let me put my nose into."

WHICH WAY TO WAG?
LONDON, Dec. 10.—J. Dunkerly, a Sheffield merchant, has a cat which doesn't know which of its tails to wag. The Persian freak, born recently, has two heads, six perfect legs, and two tails, in addition of course, to the usual nine lives.

DOUBLES HAVE DAY IN FILMS

BY DAN THOMAS
(NEA Service Writer)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 10.—Copying Franz Josef, even to the medals the famous Austrian emperor wore, Anton Vavera, the Czech-Slovakian actor, resembles the former sovereign as much as the Atlantic looks like the Pacific.

Vavera is in the role of Franz Josef in the filming of Erich Von Stroheim's "The Wedding March," a Paramount production.

Every decoration that Franz Josef wore has been duplicated, and each one meant something in the emperor's life. For 50 years he wore a war medal known as the Officers' Service Cross, a court jubilee medal, the Order of St. George of Russia, his own medal with the face turned to the inside, the broad ribbon of Marie Theresa, the iron crown of Leopold, the Order of the Golden Fleece and the Order of the Supreme Order of Austria-Hungary, St. Stephen's, the first apostolic king of Hungary.

Famous and well remembered characterizations were those of George Billings as Abraham Lincoln in several pictures, and Lucien Littlefield, as Calvin Coolidge in Douglas MacLean's "Never Say Die."

Another famous double is Cecil Holland, who has represented George Washington several times in film plays.

COUNT COMES FROM GERMANY TO VISIT LUCKY VICTIMS WHOSE SHIPS HE SANK

Count Felix von Luckner, the countess and the "Vaterland."

Former Enemies Are Now Declared to Be His Best Friends

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Peter Pan—it may interest an admiring world to discover—has sailed into New York harbor on a four-masted yacht, bearing the title of count and wearing 21 war decorations for valor.

Peter Pan he certainly must be, the boy who never grew up.

But for a workaday world, he goes by the name of Count Felix von Luckner.

During the war, he was a pirate of the type boys like to imagine themselves, sailing his "Seeadler," around the world, winning the fearsome name of "Seeadler," sinking 13 merchant ships in two months—but never shedding a drop of blood and never failing to convert his enemies into personal friends.

Now that the war is over, he refuses still to be anything but a boy out for a lark. His chosen work is to show what desirable goods Germany can manufacture. In other words, he is a traveling salesman for his country. But is he a brisk and borsom business man? Well, his idea was to get this yacht, the "Vaterland," take his beautiful countess and a jolly crew of which all but one are barons and that one a prince, and unfurl sail to the winds of the world. Incidentally, his ship is a floating exposition of attractive merchandise and the best sort of advertisement.

He is not exhibiting in the United States, but just called by to visit friends, who formerly were his prisoners of war.

The grand president, Mrs. Pearl Lamb, will make her official visit to Santa Ana parlor, on December 20, the meeting to be held in Knights of Columbus hall. A banquet will be held at 6 p. m., on that evening, at St. Ann's Inn.

Miss Laura Joiner, visitor at the meeting, pleased the company with two vocal solos and late in the evening the members were served with refreshments in the banquet room, with Mrs. Eunice Fox, chairwoman of the committee.

At one time there were 600 guests-by-necessity aboard the "Seeadler," to say nothing of 12 cats, 10 dogs, and parrots innumerable, all rescued from the captured vessels. For Von Luckner loves life too well himself to destroy even an animal's.

The captures were made by fitting an extension of tin cans on the mouth of the one old cannon the "Seeadler" boasted. And each time the crew of the captured vessel came aboard, the rest of the prisoners stood around to enjoy their amazement at sight of the sugar-cane gun which had scared them into surrender without a shot.

The arrival of the new prisoners was always the excuse for a big dance in the cabin, with wines from every country represented by the prize ships, and delicacies from all their galleys.

Sends Guests Ashore

When the "Seeadler" got too crowded, Count Felix reluctantly sent his guests ashore in the latest ship captured and started to accumulate a new house party.

In the South Sea islands, the Seadevil anchored to give his men a vacation. And there a tidal wave seized the "Seeadler" and crushed it on the rocks.

"So we made tents of her sails and set up the first German colony on a French island," says Von Luckner. "Later, when he had lived Robinson Crusoe lives for some weeks, five of us set out in an open boat to find a new ship."

After many exploits, Count von Luckner was captured by a British officer and made a prisoner of war in New Zealand. There, one of his former prisoners found him, and by interesting the newspapers, made the count a public favorite, as "Australia's only war prisoner and the most hospitable raider on the seas."

From this prison, the count escaped by a ruse which toppled his guard into the ocean and secured the motorboat and the sword of the very officer who had captured him. The Seadevil picked up the guard from the water and made off with him, to swoop upon another merchant vessel and capture it by sheer bluff.

War Ends Adventures

The war ended, and Count Felix found his adventures cut short. Germany was in dire want and in helpless political confusion.

W. L. Foster, professor of science at the University of Tulsa, asserts the find will form a new link in scientific study of the old continental races.

Human heads and hands and feet of black trap stone, images of tigers, frogs, eagles' heads, alligators and snakes, marbles of colored stone and a jewel box of lava-like materials, formed the collection.

Novaculite, a siliceous silk resembling slate is native to Arkansas. One of the images was a life size head of novaculite, with eyeballs of silver and pupils of copper.

There is no caste system aboard the "Vaterland." Baron Siegfried

Forty and Eight, box car branch of the American Legion, recently adopted the suggestion made by the Orange county vulture that each county Forty and Eight association sponsor a Boy Scout Jamboree as an annual affair. The suggestion was put forward by Capt. Joseph Plank, of Santa Ana. The help of the ex-service men will mean a great deal to the Boy Scouts of California and they have Plank and the Orange county "wrecking crew" to thank. Incidentally, this fellow Plank probably will be the next grand chief of the organization, it is said. The birth of a baby Plank prevented the captain's attending the last state convention, but he was elected vice president anyway.

E MERLE HUSSONG

the appetite I think. That description is not too good.

Santa Ana is about clubbed to death. That is to say, there are "plenty" of clubs. Consequently, I may be putting my foot in it by advocating another. This new club would make it a business to bounce into Los Angeles when national celebrities arrive and make arrangements to show them Orange county and Santa Ana in particular. Last year, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, owner of the Saturday Evening Post, and George Horace Lorimer, editor of the same publication, were in the Hotel Huntington, in Pasadena, for several weeks and expressed a desire to see Southern California. That would have been a good opportunity to acquaint them with Orange county. Just now, O. O. McIntyre is in the Ambassador, in Los Angeles, and Hollywood is filled with novelists of all sorts, newspaper editors and "what nots." This club would see to it that these persons take a peek at what we have down here. As I said before, Santa Ana is about clubbed to death, but there always is room for one more.

Seven-Story Building Combines Travel, Hotel Facilities

Forecasting what Santa Ana reasonably may expect, in proportion, what is said to be the finest motor stage terminal in existence has just been completed in San Diego by the Pickwick Stage system.

The beautiful new building combines a high class modern hotel with terminal facilities for easily handling a passenger volume of 5,000 persons daily. The cost is placed at well over half a million dollars and the structure is considered one of San Diego's most beautifully designed and substantially constructed buildings.

Fifteen thousand persons attended an unusual celebration, which marked the opening of the new highway travel center, which is located at the business heart of the Southern California city, at First and Broadway streets.

A dramatic stage presentation in San Diego's finest theater, following the dedication, brought back the pioneer days of motor stage travel, when the Pickwick system first originated in San Diego.

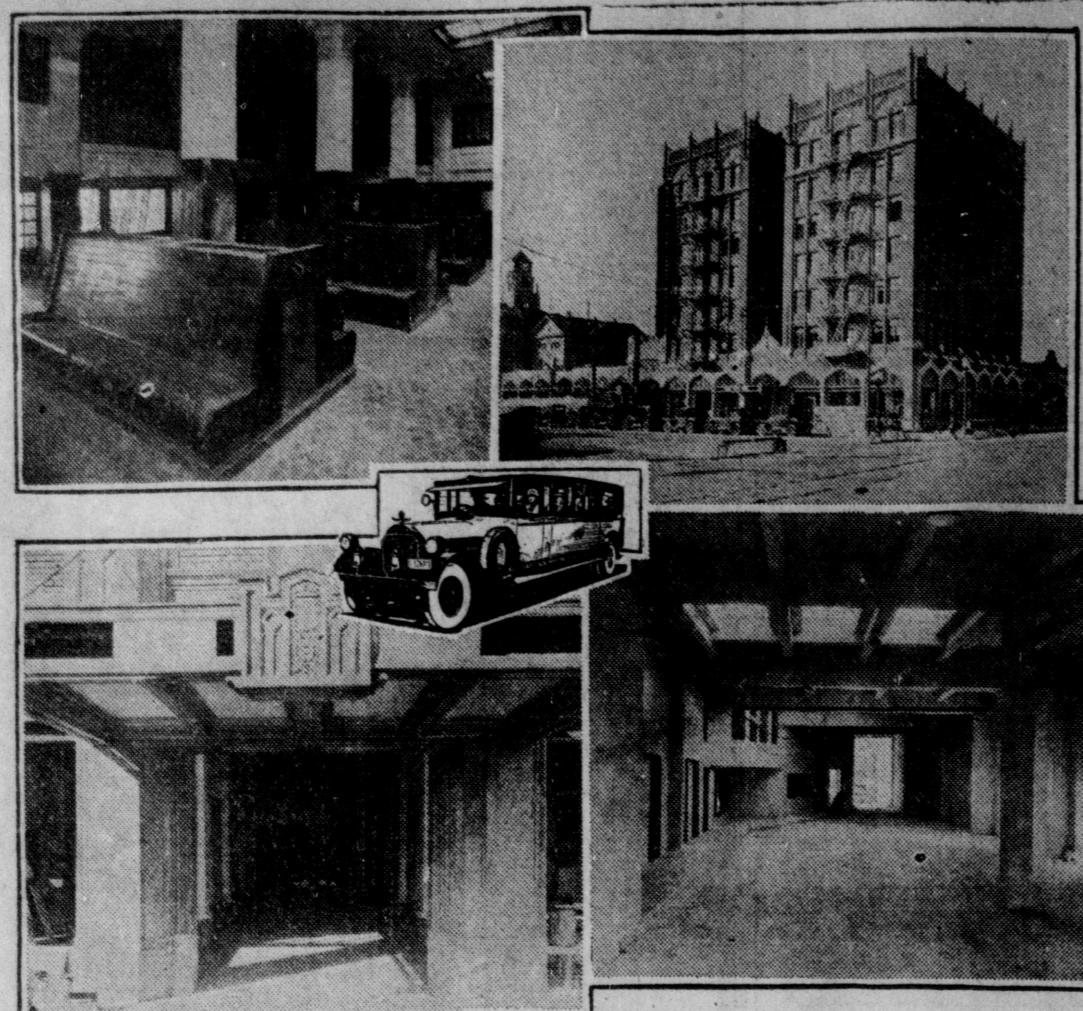

The new seven-story terminal building is the culmination of 14 years' motor transportation experience and incorporates many original features developed by motor coach travel. It is said to be the only terminal building constructed in conjunction with a big hotel allowing incoming passengers to find the best accommodations without moving a step from the point of arrival.

Five thousand passengers can be handled daily without taxing the terminal facilities. At full capacity, 20 motor coaches can load or discharge passengers at one time—or a total of 600 people—in the space of five minutes.

ELIZABETH DANIEL DIES IN FULLERTON

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Daniel, wife of W. H. Daniel, 241 East Wilshire avenue, Fullerton, and mother of Meta C. Daniel, head of the biology department in the Santa Ana high school, passed away in her home, in Fullerton, Wednesday.

Mrs. Daniel was well known in Santa Ana and had a host of friends here.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Estella F., of Valparaiso, Chile and Meta C. of Santa Ana, and one sister, Mrs. R. F. Squires, of Millington, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30, tomorrow afternoon, in the Methodist church, Fullerton. Interment will be in Loma Vista cemetery, Fullerton.

5 VAGRANTS ARE GIVEN FREEDOM

Five men, arrested Wednesday night on vagrancy charges, when they were found wandering about the streets, were given suspended jail sentences yesterday, in Judge J. F. Talbot's court.

The men all were young and Talbot allowed them their freedom on condition that they leave Santa Ana immediately and not return.

Charged with speeding, W. E. Houser, Santa Ana, was fined $15 in police court yesterday. Robert Britton, Santa Ana, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail on a drunk charge.

Set of Tools Is Taken by Thieves

Thieves, who entered the place of William Parson, 614 East Fourth street, last night, stole a set of tools, valued at $35, according to a report filed today with the city police.

Entrance into the place was made by breaking a lock off a rear door, according to the report.

A description of the missing tools was given officers. An investigation is being made.

most satisfactory of all evergreens.

Myrtus Communis

The other family of popular berries known as cotoneaster may also be used formally or otherwise. The panosa may be trained or allowed to grow quite tall, in which case with heavy clusters of brilliant orange or red berries, according to variety. A slight occasional pruning is often very good where the plants grow too irregularly.

Cotoneasters

Boxwood

By far the most satisfactory low hedge is the Japanese boxwood, which is used almost entirely where a low evergreen is desired.

Starting early to prune, it is easily held as low as eight inches. It rarely is seen above two feet. For best results, it should be carefully trimmed.

This plant usually is obtained in boxes and planted out in distances varying from six to 12 inches apart. With more expert trimming, they may be spaced to 20 inches apart and trimmed individually into globes, or various shapes. For bordering walks and lawns or for a neat border in front of the shrubbery bed, boxwood is by far the best.

Leptospermum

The Australian tea tree or leptospermum laevigatum, is not often mentioned as a hedge possibility, but is excellent for a tall dense screen. It is easily formed into an inclosure or eight to 10 feet in height and the rapid growth adds to its favor. The foliage is gray green and rather small. For about two months in the spring, medium sized white waxy flowers appear.

The foliage is very effective for greeneries in bouquet work.

Lantana

It must be used cautiously because of its gaudy colors.

RABBIT, CAVY BREEDERS HOLD 1927 ELECTION

Election of officers for the coming year featured the final session of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' association, held last night at the convention and rabbit show, in Anaheim.

J. F. Bales, of Springfield, Ill., was chosen president, to succeed Edward H. Stahl, of Holmes Park, Mo. Stahl was elected vice president.

Other new officers are as follows:

H. Weygandt, Chicago, secretary; Miss N. M. Flaherty, Chicago, treasurer; W. H. Blair, Lamona, Ia., chairman board of directors.

Directors elected are as follows: H. B. Swalley, Nebraska City, Neb.; Mrs. F. N. Leech, Stoneham, Mass.; Judge John C. Fehr, Indianapolis, Ind., and Lewis F. J. Griffith, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mrs. Etta E. Powers, secretary of the Orange County Rabbit Breeders' association, was nominated for a directorship, but was defeated by 14 votes.

The rabbit show will continue until tomorrow night.

MOTHER, DAUGHTER HURT IN COLLISION

Mrs. M. E. Carlisle, 811 West Fairview street, and small daughter were injured yesterday, when the automobile, in which they were riding with the husband and father, collided with a machine driven by E. C. Rogers, 1406 South Van Ness street, at the intersection of Fairview avenue and Ross street.

Carlisle, in his report to the police, alleged that Rogers violated the right-of-way.

The daughter suffered a fractured collar bone and Mrs. Carlisle was cut and bruised.

Serum to Fight Sleep Sickness Believed Found

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—A serum, which its sponsors assert is effective in combating sleeping sickness, medically termed epidemic encephalitis, has been developed at St. Elizabeth's hospital here. A vaccine which, it is claimed, strengthens resistance following recovery from the primary stage of the disease, also has been produced.

Researches by Dr. Walter Freeman and Miss Alice Evans, of the hospital staff, led to the discovery, it was announced, and the serum and vaccine have been utilized with success in three cases.

The epidemic encephalitis, a form of sleeping sickness, according to the hospital authorities, with a fatality percentage of about 30, heretofore has been classed as practically incurable. It has been prevalent in Europe and the United States and has swept over wide areas in an epidemic form. Of the 70 per cent who recover, the physicians said, few escape the dire after-effects of the disease which cause pronounced impediments in speech or gesture or partial crippling of limbs.

Both the serum and vaccine are based on the isolation of the disease germ, a form of the streptococcus. The remedies, however, are of no value, Dr. Freeman said, after the after-effects of the disease have set in.

Ship Owners of Marion Douglas Ignore Property

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 10.—The three-masted windjammer Marion C. Douglas, suspected rum runner, found a near-derelict off the Mexican coast in September, and towed to San Diego for identification, is holding its secrets better than it did its liquor.

A secret door, bullet hole, a Bible with certain passages underscored and the scrawled names "Mary" and "Hazel," add untold mystery to the craft, which bore no ship's papers when found.

The government has advertised in vain for its owners to "come and get it." If unclaimed, the vessel will be sold at auction and its past will probably always be a mystery.

A deputy constable, who is stationed aboard the craft, with plenty of time and little to do, has rummaged every nook and cranny for a clue to the fate which befell the old windjammer and her crew. He has found:

The names "Mary-267" and "Hazel-264" scrawled in a heavy hand inside an old adventure-story magazine.

A Bible with the pages of the book of Acts giving worn evidence of much reading. A verse was underscored reading: "He suffereth shipwreck," and another: "And Paul said: I have lived in all good conscience before God until this day."

Construction of Septic Tanks to Be Demonstrated

Announcement was made today by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, of a septic tank construction demonstration, to be conducted at the Christensen place, one mile north and one mile west of Garden Grove, at 1:30 p. m., Wednesday, December 15. The place is located at the intersection of West Chapman and Brookhurst roads.

The tank constructed is a one-compartment type, with baffle boards made of redwood. These are removable so that if cleaning is necessary, the baffle boards may be removed, leaving a rectangular compartment, seven feet long, three feet wide and four feet deep.

The sides of the excavation take the place of outside forms to be made. These forms are made up in such a manner as to be removable without tearing up, so that they may be used for the building of other tanks. Where forms are used the second time, alleviating their cost, materials used in the construction of the tank need not exceed $250.

At the same time, Cory revealed that his office had record of over 30 tanks in successful operation in the county. The demonstration, under the auspices of the agricultural extension service and the Orange County Farm Bureau, will be open to the public.

The rabbit show will continue until tomorrow night.

TWO BROTHERS FACE CHARGES OF AUTO THEFT

Two youths, arrested yesterday morning by F. G. Yoder, state officer, when the latter found them asleep in an automobile, in Orange, will go to San Diego today to face grand larceny charges, in connection with the alleged stealing of the machine.

According to Yoder, the boys, Benjamin Pember Irwin, 18, and Harding Irwin, 22, admitted in jail today that they had stolen the machine in San Diego on December 8. The car, it was said, is the property of Benster McKee, Southern Title building, San Diego. It is a sedan.

That both youths had served time in reformatories on the west coast also was admitted, Yoder said. Benjamin Pember Irwin may be a fugitive from the Salem, Ore., training school, declared Yoder, who is checking his record today.

The elder of the two brothers is said to have, at one time, been in the Whittier State reformatory.

The alleged confession of the youths came after several hours of grilling, it was said. The boys said they also were known as Kenneth and James Brown and Clyde and Francis Jordan. When arrested they gave the name of Brown.

San Diego police were notified of the recovery of the machine and of the arrests and will be here today to return the boys to San Diego county, it was said.

Anchor Recalls Famous Wrecks Of Early Days

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10—Old sailors men frequently are gathered these days in speculative groups around a corroded piece of iron, a mute reminder of old shipping days, sitting among the shell fish stalls at Fisherman's wharf.

It is a brine-eaten anchor of a past stamp, recalling 49 days, voyages of uncertain destiny around the Horn. From its dimmed markings its age is judged at more than half a century.

Two trawler boats, dragging the ocean bottom 35 miles off Half Moon Bay, around the lower side of Golden Gate, picked the anchor out of the depths in which it had lain countless years.

From Lloyd's formulas, David W. Dickie, marine surveyor, computed the length, breadth and depth of the ship to which the anchor belonged. He estimated that it was more than 325 feet long, of 38-foot beam, and 32-foot draught.

The measurements fit those of the Rio de Janeiro, lost years ago with 125 lives and $2,000,000 in gold.

To sailors this memento of perhaps a sea disaster similar to that of the Rio recalled stories of other luckless ships—the burned clipper Glory of the Seas, the famed steamers City of New York and City of Sydney.

Capt. Thomas P. H. Whitelaw, who salvaged the City of New York off Point Bonita, found the anchor to be of English make.

Corrosion, which in places was two inches deep, indicated the anchor had been submerged 60 years, more or less. Its stock, or cross-arm, which on a modern anchor is bent at right angle on one end, is straight. Its weight originally was 400 pounds.

Accidental Death Verdict Is Upheld

HANFORD, Calif., Dec. 10.—A verdict of accidental death, which was returned by a coroner's jury here after investigating the death of Verrell Stacey, Lemore, was upheld by W. R. McKay, district attorney. Stacey's body was found near a railroad track several weeks ago. His relatives were inclined to believe him the victim of a crime and asked a complete study of the case. Investigations indicated he had been struck by a train.

SHOES AND SHOOTS

HONOLULU, Dec. 10.—An American millionaire's son is recovering from the surprise of a volley of buckshot, aforesaid shot being fired by a Chinese rice planter while shooting birds off his rice paddle. It happened when the S. S. Rymond, "floating university," was in Honolulu recently with a cargo of college students on a world cruise.

DOHENY AND FALL WEAR MEN OF CHURCHLY PIETY WHILE IN COURTROOM AT FRAUD TRIAL

Cameras are barred at the trial of Edward L. Doheny and Albert B. Fall—but artists are allowed to use their pencils. Here are pictures of the first day of the trial, as sketched in the courtroom by an N.E.A. Service artist.

SNOW 6 INCHES DEEP RECORDED IN SILVERADO

Six inches of snow covered the canyon bottom of the Silverado, at the mine forks, during the storm just ended. This report was brought by Forest Ranger J. B. Stephenson, who has established a camp at the forks for the use of a crew of rangers and men engaged in cutting firebreaks and making trails.

"From the valley," said the ranger, "the snow on the range showed up very plainly on the area that was burned over in the brush fire that started October 31. Just as much snow fell on the upper part of the rest of the range, but the brush prevented it from making the display that was made on the 'burn.' The fire extended clear to the top of Modjeska peak, which is the nearest peak of what we often call Old Saddleback, and to the top of the long ridge running off to the right. To the left of the big white area, toward the top of the range, another white area, long and small, runs parallel with the top of the range. That white area is where the fire broke over into the upper part of Silverado canyon, burning over about 400 acres. The lower edge of this white spot marks where we cut the firebreak across in front of the fire and back-fired, stopping the progress of the fire down into Silverado."

Stephenson said that the snow proved a boon. Had the moisture all come down as rain, quite a sizable flood would have resulted.

"As it was," said he, "the heavy storm brought down a wall of water between two and three feet high."

"A good deal of damage has been done on the burned-over area by heavy washing of soil. Some deep ravines have been cut through to rock. Over much of the area, grass has started up in good shape, which will help to hold the soil from washing."

RAILWAY SHIPMEN GRANTED INCREASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10—Old sailors men frequently are gathered these days in speculative groups around a corroded piece of iron, a mute reminder of old shipping days, sitting among the shell fish stalls at Fisherman's wharf.

It is a brine-eaten anchor of a past stamp, recalling 49 days, voyages of uncertain destiny around the Horn. From its dimmed markings its age is judged at more than half a century.

Two trawler boats, dragging the ocean bottom 35 miles off Half Moon Bay, around the lower side of Golden Gate, picked the anchor out of the depths in which it had lain countless years.

From Lloyd's formulas, David W. Dickie, marine surveyor, computed the length, breadth and depth of the ship to which the anchor belonged. He estimated that it was more than 325 feet long, of 38-foot beam, and 32-foot draught.

The measurements fit those of the Rio de Janeiro, lost years ago with 125 lives and $2,000,000 in gold.

To sailors this memento of perhaps a sea disaster similar to that of the Rio recalled stories of other luckless ships—the burned clipper Glory of the Seas, the famed steamers City of New York and City of Sydney.

Capt. Thomas P. H. Whitelaw, who salvaged the City of New York off Point Bonita, found the anchor to be of English make.

Corrosion, which in places was two inches deep, indicated the anchor had been submerged 60 years, more or less. Its stock, or cross-arm, which on a modern anchor is bent at right angle on one end, is straight. Its weight originally was 400 pounds.

Wide Road Across Nation Suggested

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—Survey for a super-highway, with a 500-foot right-of-way, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, was suggested in a bill introduced yesterday by Senator DuPont, Republican, Delaware.

The road would be the most direct route and touch cities of more than 2500 only where impractical to go around them. The bill provides also for building tourist camps, emergency airplane landing fields, radio and electrical facilities and structures for air navigation.

SHOES AND SHOOTS

HONOLULU, Dec. 10.—An American millionaire's son is recovering from the surprise of a volley of buckshot, aforesaid shot being fired by a Chinese rice planter while shooting birds off his rice paddle. It happened when the S. S. Rymond, "floating university," was in Honolulu recently with a cargo of college students on a world cruise.

A higher proportion of educated women in China take up careers after marriage than in the United States.

Five million women in the United States visit barber shops in a year, it is estimated.

U.S. Mines Bureau Specialist Sees Plenty of Fuel for Motor Cars

Harry H. Hill, Chief Petroleum Engineer, Tells Graphically of How Future Requirements Will Be Met Through Advances in Science, Engineering and Technology.

By JUDSON C. WELLIVER

Uncle Sam has a neat trick of getting expensive people to work for him for small pay. Of course thousands of his employees are paid all they are worth, but for technical, scientific and administrative tasks he keeps an astonishing proportion of people working for him at ridiculously low wages.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, is paid $15,000 a year, though dozens of corporations would gladly pay him ten times that. He recently required a chief for the Bureau of Mines, which pays $7,500 and needs a $30,000 man. Hoover decided on Scott Turner, and sent for him. When they had talked it over Turner had enlisted, at something like one-fourth the salary he could have commanded elsewhere.

Turner, like Hoover, is an engineer, and takes the practical engineer's view of social and economic problems. Conservation? Yes, these engineers are for it; but to them conservation means the efficient, results-producing employment of both effort and resources. Your engineer hates profligacy; but he also despises parsimony. He wants us to use things, but use them for all they are worth. He believes in spending, usually on a huge scale; but he wants 100 per cent return, and more if possible.

The Bureau of Mines has chiefly to do with natural resources whose supply is limited. It wants us to make the most of every ton, or barrel, or kilowatt-hour of them. It guesses that if we use them in this way we will find new supplies, develop better modes of utilization, discover substitutes, and improve our scientific methods fast enough to keep industry moving and human wants supplied. The engineering mind conceives that if we run short of lumber, we can use steel, brick and cement. The inventor, first cousin to the engineer, hears that increasing population may outrun the supply of textiles for clothing. He also notes that the ladies want to wear silk instead of cotton. So he turns cotton fibre and wood pulp into artificial silk. A few years ago, economists were worrying about supplies of lumber and cotton. Now, folks who have lumber and cotton to sell are worrying because substitutes are elbowing their goods out of the market.

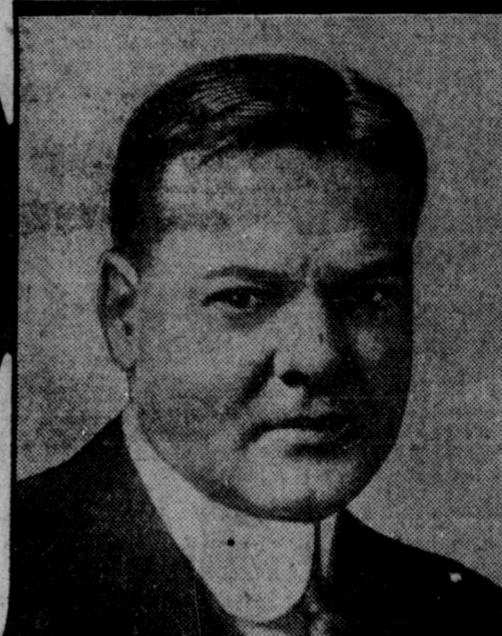

Lately, the Bureau of Mines and other government and business activities have been wondering about these areas only a small proportion has been taken out. We know that oil produced by gas pressure capable of lifting it to the surface when we drill holes, is but a small proportion of all the oil contained in the sands. Even from the best pools, recovery by the old methods is small, perhaps one-half in the most favorable conditions, oftener one-sixth, or one-seventh, or one-tenth. But a considerable part of what still remains in the ground can be recovered by methods now established as technically and economically practicable. These methods will be improved and new ones devised, as occasion demands."

Oil From Shale and Coal
"What about producing oil from coal and shales, and by mining the oil-bearing sands?" I asked.
"Entirely possible," replied Mr. Hill; "experiments are going on in these directions, and if we ever have to fall back on these resources, we will be ready. For a long time, however, the present methods of exploration and drilling, with improving processes to as-supplies of petroleum. Wherewith shall our 20,000,000 cars be propelled, how shall the vast mechanism of this machinery age be lubricated, if petroleum runs out on us? What will those people do for light who still find kerosene the one cheap and efficient illuminant? With this country turning out seventy-odd per cent of the world's petroleum, running most of the motor cars, and even more dependent on petroleum products, it is no wonder such questions are asked. So I went to the Bureau of Mines, one of whose specialties is petroleum, to learn what they thought there.

Nothing to Worry About

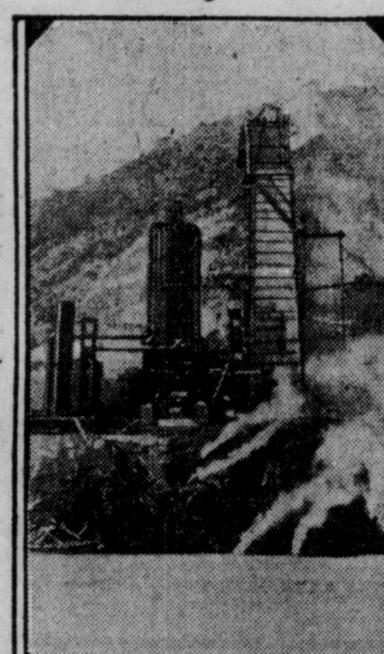

Scott Turner, who is big, blunt, and knows exactly what he is about, referred me to Harry H. Hill, Chief of the Petroleum Division. Hill is another of these specialists who work for the government for modest fractions of what they could get elsewhere, because they like the work. After hearing his story I decided that we wouldn't sell the old family car immediately. He thinks there will be something to run it with so long as any of the family are around to use it.

"One reason why there is nothing to worry greatly about," said Mr. Hill, "is that people are worrying about it. When interest is aroused in such a question, at the right time, it is the best insurance against disaster. The President and the Federal Oil Conservation Board have done what was needed, at the right time. The country, the oil industry, the motor car builders, are forewarned. They will be forearmed."

"We don't know how much petroleum is left in the ground, nor how much of it can be recovered. We don't know what new fields will be found, nor how productive. We do know that most of the petroleum thus far has come from rather limited areas within the United States, and that even from from the gas and saved, while the worked. They have made great progress, and so increased recoveries.

"In earlier times most oil producers carefully guarded all information about their wells and experiences, but latterly there is cooperation in these matters. Bureau of Mines engineers are able to get the 'logs' of wells, showing geological formations and general conditions, from the study of which, in connection with increasing general knowledge, a fund of helpful information can be placed at the service of producers. Geologists and petroleum engineers, once derided by the 'practical' oil men, are more and more accepted as guides and mentors. Of course, there is still a lot to learn; but it is being learned, and this new knowledge is constantly increasing recoveries. These various methods are already making possible recoveries in some cases double those accomplished under earlier procedures, and these will go higher as methods are perfected."

To Mining for Oil

Asked about the various plans and experiments for literally mining oil, Mr. Hill said that in Lorraine they dug shafts down to the oil sands, and actually brought the sands out, like coal from a mine. Washing the oil from the sands assures substantially complete recovery. But it is so expensive that we can hardly imagine it as practical in this country.

"Another mining process," the engineer continued, "is to sink a shaft to the oil sands, and from its bottom drive tunnels in all directions through the sands. From these tunnels small perforated pipes are driven into the sands, which drain the oil out of the sands. It flows to larger pipes back at the foot of the shaft, and thence is pumped out. This requires installing an expensive plant, but in some fields the high recovery that is assured might justify the cost. After the shaft, tunnels and pipes are installed, it merely requires time for the oil to be drawn in as a sponge draws water. I understand the process is about to be installed in a few fields in this country, some companies being convinced it is practicable and profitable."

"It is pretty well understood, by this time, that oil can be distilled from coal. In Europe much work is doing along this line. But more appeal has been made by the plan of extracting oil from shale. The shales of Scotland have been worked for three-quarters of a century, and they are almost unlimited in this country, richer in oil than those of Scotland, Kentucky, Ohio, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming and California are particularly rich in shales. There is no doubt about the possibility of extraction; it is just a question of the cost at which, with the best possible equipment, it can be done. Congress has made two appropriations, aggregating about $180,000, with which the Bureau has installed a plant near Rulison, Colorado, to distill oil from the Colorado River shales. Two retorts have been put in, one of the Scotch type, and one American. Production of oil at Rulison is just getting fairly started, and we are certain to learn a good deal about gives an appropriation to help maintain the Bartlesville Experiment Station, while the oil companies everywhere assist its work. The Station is carrying on investigations looking to larger recoveries, to prevention of wastes, protection against fire, and effective utilization of lower grades of distillates. These activities cover such a wide field that even an enumeration of them would run into tiresome detail. Expert fire prevention forces, equipped with all approved apparatus, even to suits of asbestos clothing, are maintained by the operating companies, trained by the experts of the Bureau. Let me give you one incident illustrating the quiet heroism of these men who do unbelievable things and take the most frightful risks, simply as part of their day's work.

"A Bit of the Day's Work"

"On July 11 last a gas well in the Chickasha, Okla., field caught fire. It was producing about 20,000,000 feet of gas daily, which meant the fire was a fearful disaster. The Bartlesville Station received the report by telephone, and it was immediately recognized that a 'shooting job' was required. Hugh M. Kent, one of the engineer drillers at the Station, hopped into an aeroplane with Aviator Billy Parker, and flew to Tulsa. While they were in the air, the Station called up Ford Alexander at Tulsa, a skilled well shooter. Alexander met the aeroplane at the Tulsa flying field, and climbed in.

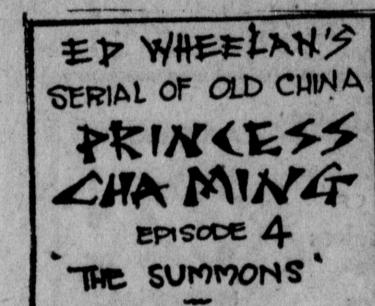

"Three hours from Bartlesville, they landed at the site of the burning gasser, having done two hundred and fifty miles. They immediately put on asbestos suits and prepared for business. A movable shield of galvanized iron backed with earth, was pushed up as near as possible to the burning well, and fifty pounds of nitroglycerine planted, connected with an electric battery to detonate it. You can imagine the nerve of those boys, carrying that nitro right up under the guns of that pillar of flame. But they did it, got away to a safe distance, exploded the charge, and blew out the gas literally as you would blow out a jet. No heroics! Just a bit of the day's work; but it was typical of the kind of adventure, of the new sort of demand on nerve and courage, that comes with the introduction of science and invention into modern industry."

That bit of graphic description was only a sample of what one hears almost at every turn in the oil country. The men who do that sort of thing are not afflicted with any notion of being heroes. They don't tell much about their experiences. But they have them all the time, and in an infinite variety.

Jack Delaney Overweight For Ring Bout

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 10.—For the first time since becoming a light heavyweight Jack Delaney will have to fight to "dry out" today, preparatory to his bout with the Jamaica Kid in Waterbury tonight.

After his workout yesterday he weighed 178, three pounds overweight. Today he was to eat as little as possible and do more rigorous training.

If he does not make the weight by tonight the fight will not be recognized as a championship affair.

GIVE 'EM NEW FACES

"When you can't give the public a winner, the next best thing is to give them new faces."

Such was the remark made to me one day last summer by a major league club owner. Said owner's ball club was having a tough time of it.

Since the close of the season, it seems a lot of major league clubs have adopted the above expressed theory and they have started with the manager.

Seven clubs in the majors, almost half of them, have made a shift in their leaders, five in the American, two in the National.

MANY CHANGES CERTAIN

When a ball club signs up a new manager, it is a certainty that a number of changes will be made in the playing personnel.

Every manager has his likes and dislikes in baseball. In taking over a new club, he first seeks to eradicate any evils that he believes exist, then infuse a certain amount of new blood.

I look for a number of trades

Saturday, Dec. 11, 2 P.M.
ADMISSION, 50c

$40,000 PURSE NOW PRIZE IN CHANNEL SWIM

Under the tutelage of Coach Walter Scott, the Santa Ana junior college basketball squad has been quietly drilling until now it is ready to spread out its wares before Santa Ana sport fans. The initial cage game of the season will be played at Andrews' gymnasium here tomorrow night when the junior college quintette meets Southwestern university.

Considerable interest is centered around the game not only because it is the first of the season but also because it is the first to be played on the new floor.

The evening program at the gymnasium is to be celebrated as "opening night." Coach Scott has procured the gymnastic team of the University of Southern California to perform.

The program will begin at 7 o'clock when the gymnastic team, 30 strong, will give an exhibition on the apparatus.

At 9 o'clock, the college cage squad will take the floor.

At forwards, Frank Labrucherie, a veteran of last year, and Paris Edgar, former Santa Ana high school star, will start. Sometime during the game Wilbur Allie and Ralph Rozelle will be injected into the game. They are good enough to replace the starting forwards without weakening the Santa Ana team a degree.

Keith Rogers, Compton athlete, and a smart basketball player, will tip the ball from center and will probably act as captain.

Starting guards will be Lawrence Kokx and Donald Squires. Others who may go in are Jimmy Smith, veteran player, and Gerald Edwards, red-haired Kansas boy.

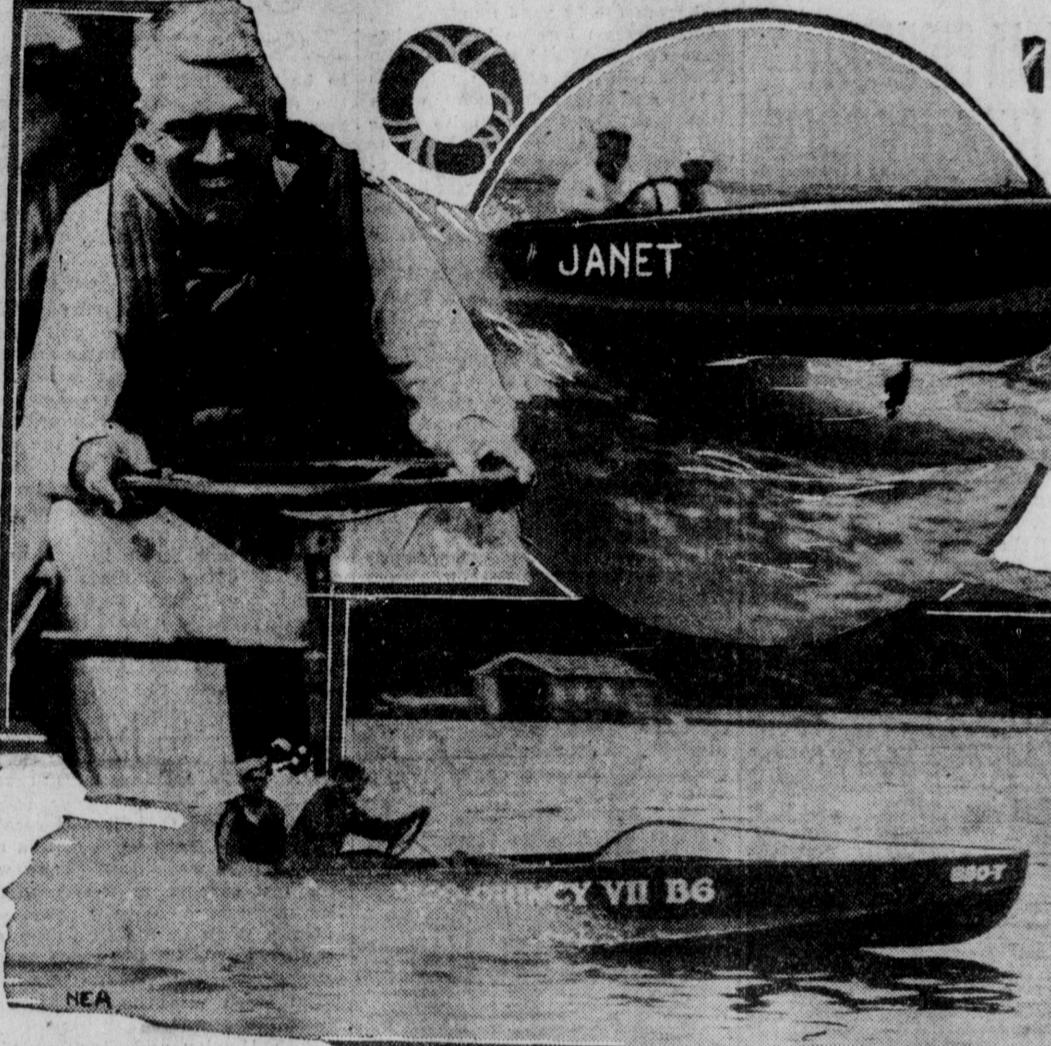

Players from last year's team will be out to score a trouncing they received from the Southwestern team at the beginning of the season last year.

Next week, the Santa Ana team meets California Christian college. The final practice game before the league schedule opens will be play-

SANTA ANA HOLDS MARGIN OF ONE VICTORY IN NINE TILTS WITH FULLERTON REDSHIRTS

Nine times have Santa Ana and Fullerton high school football eleves waged desperate warfare on the gridiron and in this lengthy period of rivalry, born in 1917, neither school has been able to gain an appreciable advantage over the other. Santa Ana has won four games, Fullerton has won three while two contests resulted in ties.

Tomorrow's battle at Poly field will be the tenth time the two major Orange county high schools have met on the gridiron. Will Poly increase its insecure foothold on Redshirt territory or will "Shorty" Smith's aggregation even the games at four each?

(Following is the fourth of a series of articles dealing with next season's football outlook at schools of the Pacific Coast conference.—Sport Editors' note.)

CORVALLIS, Ore., Dec. 10.—Although the Oregon Aggies are losing 10 veteran members of the varsity football squad by graduation this year, nevertheless a real group of gridiron warriors will wear the black and orange colors next season.

Eight of the 10 men leaving were outstanding stars, but, with a wealth of material being carried over, Coach Paul Schissler has no reason to fret about prospects of the immediate future—even though "Iron Horse" Shulmerich, the great fullback, is among those to depart.

Fifteen veterans, all classed as members of the 1926 varsity, are being carried over, and nine of them were lettermen this season. The greatest of the 15 is Howard Maple, one of the shiftest and trickiest quarterbacks on the coast, though he was not among this year's lettermen.

The lineup Coach Schissler will have left after the annual gradu-

POST-SEASON GRID MATCH HERE IS TENTH STRUGGLE BETWEEN ANCIENT RIVALS

With the football championship of Orange county at stake, Santa Ana and Fullerton high schools will come to grips at Poly field here tomorrow for the tenth time since athletic rivalry was established between them back in 1917. The game will begin at 2 p. m., local officials announced today.

Reports from the rival training camps this afternoon were to the effect that both squads were in the best of condition, that their "mental attitudes were right and that nothing will be held back to bring victory."

"Tex" Oliver, the young Santa Ana coach, refused to predict victory for his Santa Anans but was not as pessimistic as "Shorty" Smith, mentor of the Fullerton Redshirts and himself a former Poly coach, who said only a miracle would save his men from defeat.

Oliver Hopeful

"The Santa Ana team is in good condition and ready to play its best game of the year," Oliver said. "Early in the week the boys looked stale and ragged but they are coming around again now and we believe they have a good chance for victory. We realize we are meeting a team that is always to be feared and respected but we are not going to concede them victory because they fight hard for every point. Santa Ana is going out there to fight some itself."

Smith was quoted as saying his team was worn out by the long season and hardly in condition to put up its best effort.

"We are going up against our strongest adversary of the year," Smith stated, "and we are not prepared for it. It looks like Santa Ana should win by a touchdown."

Both squads were sent through their final practice of the season yesterday and what little work was to be done this afternoon was only for the purpose of keeping limber the muscles that will be sorely needed before dusk on the morrow.

Met First in 1917

Santa Ana and Fullerton met for the first time in 1917 and the local institution was victorious. The schools have played eight games since that time or nine times in all and Saturday's conflict will be the tenth. Santa Ana has won four times and Fullerton three times. Two games ended in the scores.

Santa Ana finished in the second division of the Coast Preparatory league this fall but played better football than its standing indicated. Except Whittier, which caught Poly way off its game, no team was able to best Oliver's crew by more than a one touchdown margin.

Fullerton won the championship of the Orange County league only after playing through a schedule that tested to the limit the courage and fortitude of the Redshirt band.

Huntington Beach and Anaheim finished the season on even terms with Smith's henchmen but the Fullerton outfit was best and the

6-DAY JUNIOR COLLEGE WEEK PLAN INDORSED

Members of the Santa Ana junior college faculty today voiced their approval of the recommendation to be submitted by State Supt. Will C. Wood, to the state legislature, calling for a six-day week for junior colleges in the state.

According to D. K. Hammond, principal of the junior college, the recommendation of the state superintendent, if adopted, would go far to balance the weekly program without interfering with the work of the high school or necessitate the employment of additional teachers.

Wood's recommendation for a six-day week and his reasons therefor are set forth in the following statement:

"The law relative to holidays as it stands, works a hardship on junior colleges and results in the non-use of many class rooms in junior college buildings for a considerable part of the time. Under the present law, the junior colleges must close on Saturday, Sunday and certain extra holidays. Most of the junior college courses are on the three-unit-a-week type; that is, they require three hours of recitation or lecture work on three separate days, and convenience dictates that these days shall be alternate. Under present law, the work must be given only on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The result is that the buildings are generally used to overflowing on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, while they are comparatively empty on Tuesday and Thursday, which days cannot be worked into a three-unit-a-week plan. I recommend that Section 10 of the political code be amended so as to permit junior colleges to offer work on Saturday, as well as on the days above mentioned, but providing that the district so arranges its work that pupils having religious objections to Saturday work may arrange their courses on other days without prejudice to any of their rights. This measure will simplify junior college organization, make it conform more closely to college practice generally, and effect a more economical use of the junior college plant."

It is remarkable how much wear the NB seaplanes used for dual instruction have endured," the navy's announcement stated.

"Several planes have had 500 hours' flying time and one plane has flown with a very large split in the propeller more than 10 hours. A dime could be passed through the crack."

"Wood in the bottom of pontoons is rotten and on occasions the rear end of the pontoons drops off in going to the truck. However, as there are no spare propellers and no spare pontoons, and the assembly and repair department is worked to the limit overhauling NB seaplanes, the old planes are being flown as long as possible."

The fourth class of ensigns and two commanders of the naval reserve, making the largest class to date with a total of 35, have now reported to the naval air station for flight training.

The planes, it is said, have had a top overhauling and are ready for the new class.

ALLEGED RUM ROW 'KING PIN' NABBED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—Walker Marion Thompson, alleged "king pin" along Southern California's rum row, and object for months of a nation-wide hunt by federal authorities, has been captured in Santa Barbara.

Thompson was indicted early last spring, together with three other asserted rum runners, in connection with the famous revenue cutter battle off the coast of San Diego with the launch, "Jackie," which was captured with a cargo of imported liquors.

Thompson's alleged accomplices, Marcel Dellon, John B. Fairbanks and J. H. Robinson, are at liberty under heavy bonds, but Thompson, the ringleader, has been a fugitive for nine months.

The federal grand jury here, scheduled to resume its probe of the Pacific coast rum ring yesterday, has postponed its meeting until next Wednesday. At that many indictments are anticipated.

Glen C. Whittle, "under cover" man for Col. Robert E. Frith, Southern California prohibition director, pleaded guilty in federal court here to possession of liquor and will be sentenced Monday.

Darby Day Gets Divorce Decree

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Darby A. Day, Chicago, has just been granted a divorce from Bernice Ludstrom Day, who is now serving 14 years in San Quentin penitentiary for throwing acid in her husband's face. Day told the court they were riding in an automobile in February, 1925, when she exclaimed, "Honey," and threw a vial of acid in his face as he leaned forward. Day told the court he might take steps to liberate his former wife. He said, however, he had no intention of remarrying her.

Pigs, Drunk on Mildewed Corn, Run 'Hog Wild'

WYOMING, Ill., Dec. 10.—A herd of 50 hogs ran "hog wild" on the farm of Glen Beall, near here, and before the orgy terminated seven porkers had drowned in Indian creek, 13 more had died of acute alcoholism and the remainder were nursing skinned lambs. The herd had been pastured in a cornfield which was not though worth shucking, the creek having overflowed and started mildew on the corn and the process of fermentation had started.

OLD PLANE USED TO TRAIN ENSIGNS

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 10.—How an old seaplane with a split propeller "a dime could be passed through" was used by necessity at the naval air station here for the flight training of battle fleet ensigns, was disclosed in an official report, with the completion of a top overhauling of the training planes for a new class.

"The law relative to holidays as it stands, works a hardship on junior colleges and results in the non-use of many class rooms in junior college buildings for a considerable part of the time. Under the present law, the junior colleges must close on Saturday, Sunday and certain extra holidays. Suicides Declared Costly to State

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 10.—Every person who kills himself in California cheats the state out of $2500.

If the state could reach out and hand the despondent man a check for $2000, just as he was about to end his life, society would still gain a profit on the transaction.

These are the figures of L. E. Ross, state board of health statistician, who says in California alone the annual economic loss due to suicides exceeds $2,500,000.

Ross declared that the average of suicides is 900 a year. The figure of $2300 is the economic value of a Californian at the age of 46, which is the average age of those who take their own lives in this state.

Thompson's alleged accomplices, Marcel Dellon, John B. Fairbanks and J. H. Robinson, are at liberty under heavy bonds, but Thompson, the ringleader, has been a fugitive for nine months.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Department store clerks grimly bearing the horrors of Christmas shopping jams can sympathize with clerks of the congressional post offices, whose big rush starts at the same time and endures until March.

There are postoffices in both the house and senate office buildings with branches in the capitol and they are larger than the postoffices of many good-sized cities. The volume of congressional mail which they handle sometimes reaches tremendous proportions.

Fred A. Eckstein, postmaster of the senate, who has seen senatorial mail come and go these last 30 years, says the volume of incoming mail jumps at least 500 per cent as soon as the people learn that their elected servants are back in Washington. The 21 workers in his office are always busy during sessions and often they are swamped.

Eckstein, postmaster of the senate, who has seen senatorial mail come and go these last 30 years, says the volume of incoming mail jumps at least 500 per cent as soon as the people learn that their elected servants are back in Washington. The 21 workers in his office are always busy during sessions and often they are swamped.

Senators receive many gifts through their postoffice, mostly from constituents. Fruit—generally direct from the fruit states—is the favorite, reacting with especial benefit to the California, Florida and Georgia senators. There are even occasional pineapples from Porto Rico and Postmaster Eckstein notices that Texas is beginning to do better in the matter of early vegetables.

"When propaganda gets in its work, the mail is especially heavy," Eckstein explained. "We can confirm effectiveness of these 'write-to-your-senator' campaigns. One day, during consideration of the Japanese immigration bill, the California senators got 40,000 letters in one day."

Your guess is as good as the next fellow's as to who read all those letters. Eckstein doesn't know, either.

Outgoing congressional mail becomes heaviest during the primaries. Now in 42 states, and aid is provided for the children in their own homes.

There are mothers' pension laws now in 42 states, and aid is provided for the children in their own homes.

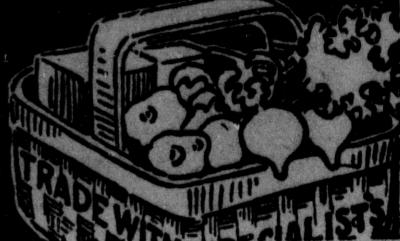

Up to six or seven years ago, members of the two houses received their mail in bundles tied in officialdom's red tape, then used all through the government departments. But the manufacturers boosted the price of red tape and lost considerable business, as the tape has been replaced with cotton twine, which everyone agrees serves the purpose fully as well.

HARBOR SPEECH IS FEATURE OF LIONS PROGRAM

"Uncle Remus," of radio fame, Miss Linda Mueller's kindergarten band, of John Muir school, a harbor address, by R. L. Bisby, and impromptu stories by members of the club combined to assist Kenneth E. Morrison, Justice of the peace, in putting over the program yesterday, at the meeting of the Santa Ana Lions club.

Morrison appeared in a new capacity and evidenced that his heart is not as stony as some persons, who have appeared before him for violation of traffic laws, believe. Morrison is a new member of the club and his appointment to the position of chairman is in line with the policy of President C. S. Crookshank in getting new members interested in the club.

Pointing out that no community can live unto itself, Bisby said that new money must be brought into a city or community in order to keep it moving in the front rank as a progressive section. He directed attention to the influence completion of Newport harbor would have in the creation of new wealth and the inducement it would offer for new money.

"Vote for development, prosperity and humanity," Bisby said, in concluding an appeal for support for the harbor bond issue of $650,000, to be voted on Tuesday of next week.

Recounting the accident, at the entrance to the harbor, three years ago, when six men and two boys of Santa Ana lost their lives, the speaker said that the $650,000 asked for the improvement project was a mere bagatelle compared with the value of the eight lives sacrificed because Orange county taxpayers have failed to provide money for making the entrance safe.

"Uncle Remus" entertained the Lions with a number of stories and a group of songs and maintained the reputation he has gained through his programs over K.H.J.

Miss Mueller's band delighted the Lions with a group of numbers suitable for triangles, cymbals, bells and drums.

Movie Chatterbox

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10.—What has become of Teddy Roosevelt's famous Rough Riders? One, at least accounted for himself when he "enlisted" for the filming of "The Rough Riders." He is Mason Mitchell.

Mitchell left the stage at the very top of his dramatic career to serve under Roosevelt. He was severely wounded in the battle of Santiago and was sent home. Mitchell has spent most of his time since the war in diplomatic service. His first post was consul to Zanzibar, Africa where he was sent by President Roosevelt. Later he was sent to China. He then was transferred to Apia, Samoa, and was on this island when the World War broke out.

Mitchell held several other diplomatic posts and then retired to private life. When Victor Fleming started filming "The Rough Riders" he wanted as many of the old-timers as possible. Mitchell was one of them.

Cecilia de Mille, 17-year-old daughter of Cecil B. De Mille, is running her father a close race for the spotlight these days. Much space in the papers has been given to Cecilia and her horses, Golden Lady and Dream Girl, who have won numerous prizes in horse shows on the Pacific coast recently.

A young "extra" man went to the Montmartre for lunch with a rapidly rising star the other day. The star had to return to the studio for work, so after a hasty lunch and one dance, she paid the check and departed. The "extra" having nothing better to do, stayed and danced with some other girl acquaintances. And then he had to get a friend to pay his second check. In no other city of its size in the world are there as many spinsters as are found in this colony of studios.

Cinema brides have a strange superstition. They will not wear a wedding gown which has been worn by a sister star in another picture. They fear it will bring bad luck. The gowns are not cast aside after the picture, however. They are ripped apart and made over into another kind of garment.

Gentlemen may prefer blonde—but there are no true blonds, according to Endi Bennett. All of which makes it seem as if these particular gentlemen are a bit out of luck. "Being blonde means having golden hair," claims Miss Bennett. "And according to the latest scientific research there are 13 colors in everyone's hair. A typical blonde hair strands of auburn, chestnut and dark brown mixed in among the gold. The lighter color predominates and therefore the person is classified a blonde."

For the first time in history, motion pictures have been made of an actual bombing raid from the same airplane which dropped the bombs. The scene of the raid was a "French" village near San Antonio, Tex., where "Wings" air epic of the World War is being filmed. Four motion picture cameras recorded the action from the huge bomber.

Rain failed to halt the parade of cinema celebrities that packed the Forum Theater for the western premiere of "Beau Geste." Nor did it hinder several hundred spectators who turned out to gaze in awe at the celluloid fames. Studio folk are as eager to be looked upon as the crowd is to see them.

Jack Warner was there in an ordinary business suit. During the intermission he approached B. P. Schulberg, executive of the Famous Players-Lasky west coast studio, and said, "Sorry I haven't 'tax' on tonight,ennie, but I loaned it to a fellow who is making $7.50 with it as an 'extra' tonight."

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites watched Santa and all the Tinies giggled as he disappeared from sight. Then Scouty said, "Aw, let's not hide. Let's run right up to Santa's side. I'm sure that he will welcome us and treat us more than right."

And so they scampered forth in glee, and climbed all over Santa's knee. "Howdy, Santa Claus. We're all just Tinymites. We hope that we will cause no fuss, and if you'll only welcome us we'll gladly trail along behind, if you'll show us the sights."

"Course Santa looked at all the crowd, and then he quickly laughed aloud. Said he, "I'm glad to see you," and he shook each little hand. "There's plenty here that you can see, and if you'll all just follow me, I'll try to make you happy with the things in Santa Land."

Menus for the Family

By SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—California grapes, cereal, thin cream, baked hash with tomato sauce, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Rice croquettes with cheese sauce, head lettuce with French dressing, molasses pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Casserole of chicken, mashed potatoes, squash croquettes, jellied fruit salad, cranberry sherbet, macaroons, bran rolls, milk, coffee.

The molasses pudding suggested for the luncheon dessert is an unusual and delicious dessert worthy of any occasion. It is particularly good for an "emergency" dessert. Marshmallow sauce or fluffy hard sauce can be used in place of whipped cream if cream has not been provided for whipping.

Molasses Pudding

One cup molasses, 1-2 cup granulated sugar, 4 tablespoons melted lard, 1-2 cup hot strong coffee, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1 egg.

Combine molasses, sugar, lard and hot coffee. Mix and sift flour, salt, soda and spices and stir into first mixture. Beat until perfectly smooth and add egg beaten until very light. Turn into a deep cake pan with a chimney or a dripping pan. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven if the dripping pan is used, or 40 minutes in a tube pan. Cut in squares and serve warm with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

If the tube pan is used, remove pudding from pan, fill cavity with whipped cream and cover entire pudding thickly with it. Serve at the table. This makes a festive looking dessert for company.

CROQUETTES

Leftovers of rice, macaroni, or spaghetti may be combined with cheese or tomato sauce for croquettes, or flat cakes, and fried in bacon fat.

LONG EYELASHES

Keep your eyelashes well nourished.

If you keep your eyelashes well nourished, you'll have no trouble with them. The cold cream that most every woman uses these days to cleanse or to nourish her complexion, gets itself worked into the eyebrows and eyelashes and helps them. Not that cold cream in itself will grow hair, merely that oil on the skin is good for lashes and brows. It cleanses them, for one thing, and keeps them from getting too dry, for another. For the same reason, olive oil rubbed into the scalp is good for scalp troubles, and for the growth and health of the hair.

A very good tonic treatment for both eyelashes and eyebrows is castor oil, provided it is of the best quality. As an ounce bottle would last a year at least, it would pay you to buy the best. Castor oil nourishes and darkens, and the best way to apply it would be to wrap a tiny bit of cotton around the end of an orangewood stick and to run this along the eyebrows, and then along the lashes, with the eyes closed. The hairs will take up the oil and carry it back to their roots.

For the eyebrows, brush and brush to promote a thicker growth; use a child's tooth brush and brush the brows to make them form a nice arch. You can't brush the eyelashes, but if you have put on too much oil, you can rub it off with the fingers. This is harmless to use. There are cosmetics containing hair growing ingredients for the eyelashes but I never recommend them, because any of these things may get into the eyes, and the least result of that would be irritation and red, watery eyes.

Clip back the lashes if you want them longer; it's good for them. Clip off only the fine tips, they'll grow out soon again, and "grow longer. If you have my pamphlet "Beauty" you'll find a formula there for a harmless colored ointment to darken the lashes, so you'll be able to see their length to the very tip, which is usually so fine and colorless as to be invisible.

Miss B. L.—I think the henna shampoo would be the correct thing for you to use on your very drab blonde hair, as it will give more character to the natural shade. From what you say about your complexion, I think the very slight reddish tinge in hair would be very becoming to you.

Keep to the shampoo so you will merely get a tint and not a deep or red shade that would be unnatural to your type. Henna is also a tonic so you are much better off in using it than the golden dye you are using at present.

Tomorrow—Some Skin Foods.

A THOUGHT

I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begotten bread?—Ps. 37:25.

So I like life and I like righteousness; if I cannot keep the two together, I will let life go and choose righteousness.—Menicus.

THOSE LEFT-OVERS

A delicious way of using left-overs of vegetables and meat is to bake them together, with a few cracker crumbs, in a casserole.

A new national women's club, the Society of Women Geographers, has been organized with Mrs. Harriet C. Adams as president.

"If you'll lie down with baby," Mother said, "It will not peep. So father did, and baby simply cried its dad to sleep."

FRIED VEGETABLES

Fried vegetables are delicious, raw tomatoes, eggplant, squash or cold boiled turnips may be simply rolled in flour and fried in butter.

OTHER WAYS

When a child dislikes milk, it is often possible to give it to him painlessly in the form of cocoa, milk desserts and creamed soups.

Queen Quality Gifts. Fuller's Brushes. Ph. 2864-W.

Prunes smile at us from the breakfast table; prunes candied and snugly packed in jars; prunes disguised in many forms as desserts—the poor prune, much maligned, continues to be set before us. Where do they all come from?

The prune is a species of plum, and was first imported to this country from France less than a century ago. Now most of those we consume are grown in California, Oregon and Washington.

In the Santa Clara Valley of California, San Jose, the principal city, is frequently called Pruneville since this area produces more for its size than any other region in the world.

The climatic requirements of prunes are peculiar. Abundance of sunshine and warm weather are necessary, and since prunes are particularly sensitive to frost and wind during the blossoming and setting periods, many prunegrowers heat their orchards at night at these times with the aid of specially designed oil heaters.

After the prunes have matured they drop to the ground, and are gathered, dried in the brilliant sunlight of the Pacific coast summer, washed and packed. A prune orchard in blossom in March or April is one of the loveliest of Nature's many sights.

Mysterious Bunk

Once in a blue moon now some bright, old-fashioned cynic says: "Aw, I never read the advertisements. They're full of bunk."

But when one starts to look for it, the "bunk" in advertising shows a mysterious tendency to be absent. Specimens of it are hard to locate.

The reason for that is simple. Bad goods cannot be successfully advertised. To stand up under the pitiless glare of publicity, merchandise must be honest. It must live up to its promises. Otherwise you would quickly cease to buy it.

So advertisers discovered long ago that for them, too, honesty was the best policy. More!—the only possible policy, if they were to remain advertisers.

Read the advertisements. They are not full of bunk. On the contrary, they are full of honest information and interesting news. They show you ways to be more comfortable. They make life easier. They help you to be happier and healthier. They teach you prices and values.

No doubt about it—advertisements do you many a service. Read them every day!

Advertisements convey honest information about honest products—it will pay you to read them

EVENING SALUTATION

A man should never be ashamed to own that he has been in the wrong, which is but saying that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.—Pope.

ELECTION NEXT TUESDAY

The day upon which the voters of Orange county are to consider the proposal to vote $650,000 bonds for raising money to be expended in making a safe entrance for Newport bay is rapidly approaching. The election is to be held December 14, four days hence.

Though this is a busy month, citizens in general should not fail to give due attention to the importance of this project. So far, whatever opposition there is to the entrance bonds has been very quiet. No meetings of protest have been held that we know about. Many of the leaders in the opposition to the two proposals voted upon in June have declared themselves as satisfied to let the entrance bonds be voted. While it looks as though the bonds will be passed Tuesday, there should be no feeling of security among those who are working for the issue.

A hard finishing campaign is necessary, in our opinion, if the $650,000 bonds are to receive the positive vote they should receive. We would like to see the bonds carried by a 5-to-1 vote, or even something better than that. A vote of that kind would do much to produce county-wide harmony, such as we ought to have in working out other county problems that are before us for solution.

Safety and utility—these are the two points of paramount interest involved. There is no more reason why this county should allow a menace to exist in a used waterway than there is why we should allow a menace to exist in a used highway. While serving the purpose of turning an unsafe entrance into a safe entrance, the construction of the jetties also will be an invitation to any who will to come into the harbor and make use of it.

There remains but four days more in which to work for the harbor bonds. That work ought not be neglected by anybody in the county. If the job isn't done now, it may be a long, long time before it can be done. And while waiting for it to be done, what toll of life would be taken at the entrance?

What loss of assessed valuation there would be through failure to get what a safe entrance will bring!

THREE THOUSAND YEARS HENCE

The ancient Greeks do not seem to have attracted the attention lately that they deserve. Premier Baldwin takes pains to remedy that oversight. Addressing a British school, he tells his audience that if it hadn't been for those old Greeks, "we would all of us been dark-skinned people with long noses."

Well, maybe not "us" exactly, but those who would occupy our places. In other words, orientals, or Mediterraneans of oriental origin, would occupy England, and perhaps America, too.

The Greeks, according to the premier and many other authorities, stopped that at Marathon when a handful of freemen turned back the Persian hordes. That little old battle, he thinks, was greater than our World war.

Will the archeologists have anything to show for our civilization in A. D. 5600, Mr. Baldwin asks, comparable with what we have today from ancient Greece? Instead of beautiful statues and columns and fragments of glorious temples and still more glorious literature, he fears that our great cities 3000 years hence will turn up nothing much but "hidden heaps of safety razor blades and coils of gas pipe."

Surely it will not be so bad as that. One thing at least may endure—our reinforced concrete buildings, which some of our architects say should stand as long as the pyramids.

THE CANE CROOK

"Cane crooks" are said to be reaping a harvest in New York. If the reader wants to know what sort of crooks they are, the answer is, men who steal canes. There are those who make a regular business of it. Also a good living.

They find easy picking because the cane, which for some years has been under a moderate ban even in the metropolis, is having a regular vogue again. Men are said to be carrying sticks there almost as "gentlemen" are expected to do in the old world. Fortunately for the thieves, they carry mostly straight sticks, some of which are very valuable, and which can't be hooked over the wearer's arm or hung on a hatrack, but must be stood up in a corner where it is easy for the crooks to walk away with them.

And that is all right with the average American, who is provincial enough to think that a cane as an article of apparel is as superfluous as a third shoe.

Where the cane belongs is in the country. It is a fine accessory to an enjoyable tramp in the woods, and the user can cut one for the occasion every time he goes out, without fear of anyone running away with it.

FOREIGN TRADE CHANGES

Secretary of Hoover reports a big change in the nation's foreign trade balance for the last fiscal year. Exports diminish 2.3 per cent and imports increased 17 per cent, so that there was a notable decline in the year's export surplus. For three months last spring there was an actual excess of imports.

Secretary Hoover likewise reports that this year the country has maintained "the highest standard of living in history, a standard far above that in most countries of the world at this or any other time."

Evidently imports are not so perilous to American prosperity as it has been customary to regard them, and a so-called "unfavorable trade balance" may not necessarily be a national calamity.

TREASURE ISLAND'S TREASURES

A lot of would-be treasure hunters are writing George Finlay Simmons for help in locating the alleged pirate gold hidden on Treasure Island. Simmons, who is curator of ornithology at a museum of natural history, knows much about the real treasure on that island, but probably not so much about the pirate wealth.

The curator was head of the Blossom expedition which came back from those strange regions in southern seas with a wealth of information and with a great variety of interesting and valuable specimens of bird and animal and sea life. All of these things add greatly to the treasure of human knowledge and are undoubtedly of infinite more value than the pirate hoard—if such a hoard actually exists.

Yet the pirate treasure appeals to many and the real treasure to few. So contrary are human folks.

We seem to have incurred a lot of unpopularity by going into the war, and would have incurred a great deal more if we had stayed out of it.

Too Much For Britons

San Francisco Chronicle

One of the most foolish revenue schemes ever tried by a government has come to a total loss with the abandonment of the British postmark advertising plan.

The British postoffice had the curious idea of selling advertising space on the outside of all envelopes passing through the mails. For a fixed sum any purchaser of publicity could have an advertisement of his wares stamped on the envelope of a certain number of letters daily.

The scheme got by almost without notice until it was put into operation. Then what a roar went up!

Lady Clara Vere de Vere's wedding bids reached her intended guests adorned with the chaste designs of a manufacturer of plumbing fixtures. The correspondence of the Honorable Lady Brocklethorpe with Miss Lowthian Sykes was an exchange of a shifting series of corset ads, dog biscuit puffs, liver pill testimonials and halitosis homilies. Apple's Soap found it letters reaching its customers plastered with the perfidious advertising of Quince's Soap. The Bishop of Wapping's appeals for funds carried also a blurb for Mr. Joseph Hergesheimer's "Cyclopedia."

It was too much, even for the practical-minded Briton. The Postmaster-General has informed the House of Commons that he is through trying. England feels more dignified.

Their Places Secure

San Francisco Chronicle

George Sisler, Eddie Collins, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker—it sounds like a roll call on baseball's high Olympus. But it isn't. It is the list of American League playing managers to be retired either voluntarily or otherwise since the close of the season.

Rarely, if ever, have four heads so noble fallen in the sporting world at the same time. Rarely, for that matter, have four heads so noble stood at the same time in baseball. For long years of active service on the field, for picturesqueness combined with high integrity of character, for physical skill directed by mentalities cultivated beyond those of the usual professional athlete, these men hold the foursome record. They are of a piece with Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson, a credit to a great game which fills so large a part in the national life. They may step out of their jobs as managers, but their places are secure in the baseball hall of fame and in the heart of the American boy.

Tinkering With Alphabet

Oakland Tribune

A Harvard professor addressing delegates to the English Language congress the other day declared that revision of the alphabet would save the United States one billion dollars a year. The system advocated, according to a press dispatch, would include twenty-four consonants, thirteen vowels, four diptongs and a symbol for the word "the," which itself takes up "7 per cent of all the words in the printed page."

One billion dollars is no mean sum to save. But system's adoption. The inertia of custom will prove system's adoption. The inertia of custom will prove an insuperable barrier. Long years of tinkering with the language have so far yielded very little to simplified spelling enthusiasts.

If change comes it will come naturally and not artificially.

Another "Meanest Man"

Bakersfield Californian

A Los Angeles police sergeant says that the modern "meanest man" is not the one who steals pennies from a blind beggar, but the motorist who drives with glaring headlights. "The sane and careful driver," says the sergeant, "blinded by the headlights of another car, might just as well have lost the sight of both eyes temporarily as far as the safety of himself and others is concerned."

The man with the glaring headlights may not be entitled to the title of "meanest man," but he is a candidate worth watching. And it is a shame that when he is ordered to the side of the road by a highway patrolman all the motorists he has enraged and imperiled cannot be summoned to the spot to enjoy his discomfiture.

RHEUMATIC FEVER CAUSES HEART DISEASE
For many years the term "rheumatism" has been misused both by physicians and the public to describe all sorts of inflammations and disturbances of the joints, whether caused by infections, nervous disturbances, or poisonings.

It has been used as a common term for backache of lumbago, for deficiencies of tendons, muscles or bones, and has been a sort of catch-all into which every type of pain could be thrown.

Today the term has been practically discarded from scientific discussion, except so far as it applies to a single acute infectious disease known as rheumatic fever.

The exact bacterial organism that causes the disease has not been determined, but most observers are inclined to believe that it is a streptococcus, a round bacterial organism that is seen under the microscope in chains, resembling somewhat the organism found in septic sore throat and scarlet fever.

These bacteria resemble each other in appearance, but differ in the effects they produce.

The most serious fact about rheumatic fever is its relationship to infections of the heart and of the nervous system which are likely to follow it.

After an attack of tonsillitis, a child may have vague pains in one or two joints and then present no other symptoms until fever and a disturbance of the heart develop.

Sometimes St. Vitus dance or chorea follows rheumatic fever and results in the nervous twitches and disturbances that give such great concern to parents.

It has been noticed that disturbances of the heart are not infrequently associated with chorea. Specialists who have studied diseases of the heart believe that from 80 to 95 per cent of heart trouble in children and young adults is secondary to rheumatic fever.

The rheumatic disease was overlooked probably because its manifestations were not sufficiently serious. This type of heart disease is preventable if prompt attention is given to rheumatic fever.

The child or young adult who has an acute sore throat must be treated promptly by good medical attention, tonsils and adenoids must be removed when they become infected, and children should be permitted to take their time in recovering after the acute stages of the disease.

Slapstick Stuff

Everybody's Duty

Riverside Press

A prominent Pacific coast unit of a chain of newspapers on the coast and in the east has called upon the church to do something more than it already has done to close the cesspool of Tia Juana. It chides the church for not doing enough. To some it may seem the height of impertinence for a newspaper that supported the repeal of the Wright bill to set itself up as a censor of any organization or person for not becoming more active on the right side of a moral issue. But it is not an uncommon occurrence for those who do not belong to the church or contribute to its support and who are almost instinctively against most of the things the church stands for, to undertake to tell the church what it ought to do and criticize it for not being more active along such lines as the critic may desire.

Regardless, however, of the fact that this particular critic has not laid a good foundation for criticizing anybody on moral issues, it may be said, that it is no more the duty of the members of churches to be active in preservation of moral and proper social conditions than it is of all other citizens. That is a duty of citizenship which rests on all alike. To be sure, it is the members of churches who are the most active in all movements for the improvement of social conditions and the general uplift of society. They could not be true to the spirit of their religion if they were not. It is to them the community always turns when there is a movement for better conditions. Without them nothing could be done. Without the support of the church people any movement against Tia Juana is bound to fail. They will compose the great bulk of such a movement.

But a distinction should be made between the churches themselves and the individuals who make up their membership. It is not the mission of the church as such to regulate social affairs. It has often attempted to do so in the past, usually with bad results. It is constantly being warned to keep out of politics. And so it should. But the members of the churches have the same right in politics as other citizens. It is as much their duty to work for good government and moral social conditions as the duty of other social citizens, and no more. But as a matter of fact they do far more than other citizens. As for the churches, their mission is to conserve and spread religion and put the right spirit in the hearts of men. Success in that would settle all problems such as Tia Juana.

At a meeting of the Santa Ana Socialists a resolution was passed condemning the using of prisoners to work on roads and other public works.

Both sides, relative to the accepting of the proposed charter, were discussed at a meeting of the Woman's Civic club. Those for the charter were W. O. Roberts and Attorney S. M. Davis, while Attorney H. C. Head spoke against it.

O. J. Mills, professional pool player, was defeated by Ellis Smith, a local player.

Special services were held at San Juan Capistrano in observance of the mission which was ruined in an earthquake, December 9, 1812.

Coch Russell, of Long Beach high school announced he would not allow his football team to play off the tie between that school and the Santa Ana high school for the championship of the high schools of Southern high schools.

The Fight

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

THE instinct of fighting, pugnacity, is one of the strongest inherent tendencies.

It's stronger in boys than girls, but it's always present. Often grown-ups view this instinct with intense disapproval, but that is because they fail to consider that it is the self-preservation instinct, the instinct for leadership and power, the instinct which has made strong men and nations—that is, when properly governed.
